WAR WOULD MEAN BLOCKADE

DUTCH COULD NOT LAND IN VENEZUELA

Actual Fighting Not Necessary to Bring Castro to His Senses.

London, Aug. 25.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at the Hague, discussing the Venezuelan affairs with diplomats there, has arrived at the conclusion that there can be no question of war such as advocated by those who are calling upon the Dutch government to take forcible measures, because, says the correspondent, in the first place Venezuela has no navy worth mentioning. In the second place, apart from the fact that the Monroe doctrine would prevent the Dutch from landing, the Dutch warships could do nothing against the Venezuelan steep cliffs, and that the portion of the Dutch army destined to service in the colonies is far too small to effect anything.

On the other hand insults to national honor are not matters for arbitration, therefore the course left is a blockade which would hit Castro in the only weak spot, namely, his purse. When President Castro finds that every additional day of the blockade reduces the revenue from import duties, he will soon climb down.

Small Hope of Peace.

The Hague, Aug. 25.—The Netherlands government received an unofficial copy of the note sent to it by Jose de Jesus Paul, the foreign minister of Venezuela, in connection with the difficulties which have arisen in the West Indies between the two states. The original document has not yet come to hand. The cabinet met this morning and considered this note at length.

The general tenor of it does not give the Netherlands government much encouragement to persevere in its attempts to reach a peaceful settlement with Venezuela.

MASSEUR CHARGED WITH CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

Coroner's Jury Find Winnipeg-ger Responsible for Death of Man.

(Special to the Times).

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Samuel W. Axtell, the masseur arrested last night by the police on a warrant sworn by Coroner Inglis, and charged with criminal neglect, later in the evening secured bail and was allowed his liberty. The bail was $5,000 in himself and two sureties of $2,500 each.

The arrest was the result of a verdict rendered by the jury empaneled to enquire into the death of Wm. J. Robinson given after forty minutes of deliberation, that said "Wm. James Robinson came to his death from appendicitis in Winnipeg. We believe that the said Axtell was criminally negligent in assuming the responsibility in the case, he being, in our opinion, unskilled and unqualified as a medical man."

Axtell gave him a purgative and sweet oil to cure appendicitis when hemorrhage had set in.

THRESHING NOW IN FULL SWING

GOOD PROGRESS IS MADE WITH HARVESTING

Weather Continues Most Favorable Throughout Canadian Northwest.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—The weather in the Canadian northwest continues most favorable, cutting and threshing being in full swing.

Seven cars of new wheat were inspected yesterday, two cars grading No. 1 Alberta red, three cars No. 1 northern and the other two grading No. 2 northern. The wheat is all of a very fine quality, weighing from 62 to 64 pounds to the bushel. It is expected that deliveries will be large by the first of next week, if the dry weather continues.

Yields are in many instances turning out much beyond expectations. A large field of fall wheat which has been threshed on the Settler branch gave 32 bushels to the acre, and a field of 1,200 acres in the vicinity of Granum actually threshed 30 bushels per acre.

Temperatures have continued low during the past few nights throughout most of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but frost has been recorded only at scattered points, and not severe enough to do material damage, the lowest temperature being 29, at Kamsack.

Good progress is being made with harvesting in South Alberta, where the crop is undamaged, and will average high. Cutting will be general this week throughout the spring wheat country, present prospects being for a sixteen or seventeen-bushel crop on the average.

NO GAME FOR MINTO CUP THIS FALL

New Westminster Decides to Accept No Challenges Until Next Year.

(Special to the Times).

New Westminster, Aug. 25.—Because the senior lacrosse season extends until October 1st, a meeting of the Westminster lacrosse club yesterday evening decided that no challenges for the Minto cup would be entertained this year. A reply to this effect is being forwarded to the Athletics of St. Catharines, who challenged a few days ago for the championship.

A ruling from P. D. Ross, one of the trustees of the cup, in Ottawa, some weeks ago gives Westminster the option of refusing challenges this year.

All the lacrosse players who made the trip East will be presented with handsome gold watches at a public concert in the opera house on Monday evening, Aug. 30, at 8 o'clock.

The owner of a presentation watch will be given a valuable shotgun instead.

Capt. Bernier is under strict instructions to take no course which might result in international complications.

MURDERED IN A LONELY WOOD

GENERAL'S WIFE VICTIM OF MYSTERIOUS CRIME

Tragedy Enacted Near London. Eng.—Dead Body Rifled.

London, Aug. 25.—The wife of Major-General Charles Edward Luard was mysteriously murdered yesterday afternoon in a desolate wood near Sevenoaks, which is a short distance outside of London. No trace of the murderer has been found, but the motive apparently was robbery, valuable rings having been taken from the woman's fingers.

The circumstances surrounding the tragedy are inexplicable. The general and his wife were about to go on a holiday, and the general suggested that they walk from their residence at Lightburn Knoll, a short distance to the golf links to fetch some things which they needed from the club house.

They started at 2 p.m., making a short cut through the woods. Half way along, Mrs. Luard, becoming tired, declared her intention to return home.

The general proceeded alone to the club house and returned to his house by another route. Finding that his wife had not returned home, he set out in search of her, and was horrified to find her lying face downward in a pool of blood at the place where she had shortly before left him.

Mrs. Luard had been shot with a revolver, one bullet entering the temple and another striking her behind the ear. The second shot seemingly was fired after the women had fallen. Her hat had been pulled back, and three rings were taken from her fingers. Her dress also was torn almost from her body.

The club house is a mile distant from any dwelling. A farm hand heard shots in that direction about 3.30 p.m., or about one hour after the general had left his wife. Mrs. Luard was about 55 years of age.

Major-General Luard is a retired officer of the Royal Engineers. He entered the army in 1867, and was executive officer in London during the Fenian disturbance of 1867. He devised the scheme for the rearmament of Gibraltar. He founded the society of miniature rifle clubs in 1901, and the Patriotic Society in 1907. In 1915 he married the youngest daughter of Thomas Hartley, of Gliffeth, Cumberland.

Bloodhounds on Trail.

Seven Oaks, Eng., Aug. 25.—(Later.)—There has been no arrest in connection with the murder of the wife of Major-General Luard at a summer house in the forest near here yesterday. The woods have recently been infested with tramps. The police have been furnished with the description of a man reported to have been seen leaving the woods yesterday and they are looking for him. They will try to pick up his trail with bloodhounds.

It is reported that two other men were killed at the same time and in the same place and manner.

BANDIT HOLDS UP EIGHT COACHES

MAKES RICH HAUL FROM SIX SCORE PASSENGERS

Remarkably Daring Exploit in Yellowstone Park—Takes Candy From Girls.

Lake Hotel, Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Aug. 25.—The most daring hold-up in the west in many years occurred yesterday within the boundary of Yellowstone Park. The work was done by a lone highwayman and the passengers were absolutely helpless in his hands as guns are permitted in the park to either drivers or tourists. From the statement of a passenger it is estimated that approximately $2,000 in cash was obtained; drafts worth $10,000 and other papers, besides a rich haul in watches and jewelry.

In all twenty-one coaches left the upper canyon basin yesterday morning. The highwayman was encountered about five miles further on at a lonely point along the Banks Spring creek, a tributary of the Fire river. The creek is lined with bushes.

The first lot of coaches, numbering seven and following each other closely, passed the place unharmed. There was a gap between that and the next lot following. As the first of the eight came along the highwayman stepped from the bushes and ordered the driver to halt. He did not molest any of the drivers, but warned each not to start a shot or he would be shot. The last coach contained five young ladies. The highwayman obtained very little from them, but stopped long enough to appropriate some candy. In all about 125 people were held up but not all of these suffered losses.

As quickly as possible after a telephone message was received at the Thumb station, word was sent to the soldiers and a detail started after him.

The man is described as about five feet eight inches high and having bluish grey eyes, bristling grey whiskers and acted either as a man who was short of breath or a consumptive. He carried an automatic rifle and used smokeless powder.

At a meeting last night of victims held at the Lake hotel resolutions were passed requesting James A. Garfield, secretary of the interior, to make a full investigation of the hold-up.

"With a view to ascertaining where there has been negligence of duty on the part of any guard of the park and what steps are necessary to ensure greater safety and defense in the future in the Yellowstone National Park."

RUMORED MISHAP TO EMPEROR WILLIAM

Report of Injury to His Leg
Disproved by Action of Monarch.

(Special to the Times).

Berlin, Aug. 25.—A dispatch received here from Strassburg says it is reported that the imperial manoeuvres have been postponed, owing to the fact that the Emperor is suffering from an injury to his leg. Confirmation of the report could not be had last night as it was impossible to communicate with Wilhelmshoe, where the Emperor is staying. Semi-official circles, however, have no information on the subject and consider the rumor unworthy of credence.

The Berlin newspapers publish it with the greatest reserve, but add that the military band which was to play in the castle last night received orders countermanding the earlier instructions.

REPORT UNFOUNDED.

Wilhelmshoe, Aug. 25.—Emperor William rode in the forest this morning which fact proved the widely published report that he was suffering from a severe injury to one of his legs to be unfounded.

WORKMEN BURIED AMID DEBRIS

NUMBER DIE WHEN
WALL COLLAPSES

Disaster at Chelsea, Mass.,
Fatal to Foreigners—Three Bodies Recovered.

(Special to the Times).

Chelsea, Mass., Aug. 25.—A thirty-foot brick wall for a building which is being erected in Chelsea Square to replace one burned in the fire last April, collapsed today and buried more than a score of workmen. Three bodies were taken out in the first half hour, and fifteen men, more or less injured, were removed to the U. S. Marine hospital, where it was reported that several would die. Nearly all the workmen were foreigners.

The wall was being built next to the Park hotel, which escaped destruction in the April conflagration. The property had formerly been a four-story building with a pitched roof, and was one of the last to be burned in the fire. A gang of over 20 men were at work on the wall this morning, and 15 men were on the staging about 25 feet from the ground laying bricks when the whole structure suddenly toppled over, carrying with it all the men on the staging and crashing down on many more who were working in the cellar below.

For a few seconds after the crash only clouds of dust could be seen, but when the people, who were passing on the street, rushed to the spot, the shrieks and cries of injured began to be heard.

An alarm was rung in and in a minute the police hurried across the square from the station only a few hundred feet away, and the work of rescue began immediately. The police are making arrangements for investigation.

Ten minutes before the wall collapsed Frank Weymouth, a newly appointed inspector of buildings, visited the site and detected what he thought to be a weakness in the wall, and ordered all work stopped at once. Weymouth stated that large holes had been made in the wall for timbers and that it was badly undermined.

NOT SUCH HOODLUMS AFTER ALL.

(Special to the Times).

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Investigation shows that the published stories of the action of harvesters coming through from the East have been greatly exaggerated, and in many cases the statements made have been proved to be entirely false, as for example the story circulated as to the disturbing by harvesters of a lady passenger.

(Special to the Times).

The new townsite is now being surveyed and laid out, a thousand acres being reserved for the purpose by the government and railway commission. Proper allotments for a school park and public buildings purposes are to be made but in order that no possible suggestion of unfairness can be had, lots will be offered by public auction on the townsite in October.

"BACK TO THE ARMY AGIN, SERGEANT."

A poem alleged to have been recited (with all due apologies to Rudyard Kipling) by an islander at the Conservative million-eating contest, Sidney, August 23rd.

I'm here in my khaki puttees,
As a broken Fedora hat,
A' lying on to the sergeant,
That I've shoredly bin standing pat.
My pride I have cast in the gutter,
Along o' the vows that I made,
An' I'm beggin' the sergeant's pardon
For slopin' the old brigade.

Back to the army agin, sergeant,
Back to the army agin, sergeant,
Don't look so hard at this penitent bard,
I'M BACK TO THE ARMY AGIN.

MULAI HAFID NOW SULTAN OF MOROCCO

Algiciras Conference Provided for Change of Rulers—No Trouble Expected.

(Special to the Times).

Paris, Aug. 25.—Official circles view the situation in Morocco with a calm spirit. It is pointed out that the change in rulers does not change the problems presented. The act of Algiciras was devised to meet these problems, and is equally applicable to the new and the old regime. Therefore it is considered unlikely that it will be necessary to summon a new conference of the powers, for there appears to be no reason why an agreement as to concerted action cannot be arranged through the usual diplomatic channels.

PROCLAIMED SULTAN.

Tangier, Aug. 25.—It is reported here that Mulai Hafid, who was victorious last week over his brother, the Sultan of Morocco, in the vicinity of Morocco City, has been proclaimed Sultan at Casablanca. KEIR HARDIE AGAIN VISITS CANADA

British Labor Leader to Attend
Big Congress at Halifax.

(Special to the Times).

Montreal, Aug. 25.—Keir Hardie, M. P., arrived in Montreal on board the Allan liner Hesperian, from Glasgow, on Sunday night. As was the case when he was here a year ago, Mr. Hardie has again come to Canada primarily in the interests of his health, at least that was what he declared, although he smiled mysteriously when asked if he did not intend to devote some time to labor problems while in this country. Asked if he intended to try to amalgamate the labor unions of Canada into one big organization, Mr. Hardie said that if such a thing should result from his visit, it would be a mighty good thing, but he could not say that it would.

"Well, are you going to try to affiliate Canadian labor organizations with those in the old country?"

"Oh, no, certainly not," said Mr. Hardie, emphatically. "Canada is a nation; that's the motto for this country."

"That was the sentiment you expressed in India last year, was it not? Is it true you preached 'insurrection' there?"

The whole explanation of the accusations made against me in regard to my Indian visit," Mr. Hardie said, "was that in India there was a journalist with an imagination, and he used it."

Mr. Hardie will not go further west than Ottawa. He is to attend the labor congress at Halifax, but will sail for England on October 2nd.

TRAVELLED SECOND-CLASS.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—When Keir Hardie arrived here yesterday on the steamer Hesperian from Glasgow, on the wharf gathered to meet him were

MAY DEMONSTRATE AGAINST HONDURAS

Reported Joint Action of U. S. and Mexican Gunboats.

City of Mexico, Aug. 25.—It has been learned here on good authority that the Mexican gunboat Bravo, which left the port of Vera Cruz three days ago, under sealed orders, is proceeding to a port in the republic of Honduras, where she will join the United States gunboat Marietta in a demonstration against the republic.

Just what developments have occurred in the situation to make this demonstration necessary cannot be learned at this time.

Those well informed on Central American affairs declare that information has reached this capital and Washington which has determined the two governments to be prepared to take action. At the state department yesterday Secretary of Foreign Affairs Gombor informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that his department knew nothing of what was contemplated in the sealed orders. He added, however, that there might be developments in the situation to-morrow.

A FEMALE "FENCE."

Large Quantity of Valuables Found in Room of Woman Charged With Robbery.

New York, Aug. 25.—In a room in West Thirty-seventh street, where detectives to-day arrested Mrs. Minnie Curtis, charged with complicity in several important jewelry robberies in this city, was found more than $15,000 worth of jewelry, fine silks, furs and various other articles of wearing apparel.

The arrest was said to have been made on information given the police last night by Harry Hill, who asserted that he was a brother of former Congressman George Hill, of Patterson, N. J., and who was arrested yesterday in Patterson on a charge of robbery.

CLOSE SEASON FOR SALMON.

New Westminster, Aug. 25.—Regulations imposing a three weeks' close season on salmon fishing came into force at midnight last evening.

In consequence of this the dealers paid large prices last evening for fish in order to try and fill their orders as the bad run of the last few days has been much against them. Arrangements are already being made to send men away to Bute and Toha Inlets, where fishing with seven-inch mesh net is permitted.

GEN. POLE CAREW ENTERTAINED

DISTINGUISHED SOLDIER BEFORE CANADIAN CLUB

He Expresses Himself Openly on Questions Affecting Empire.

Full of Imperial sentiment was the speech delivered by Lieut.-General Sir Reginald Pole-Carew at the luncheon of the Canadian club this afternoon. He asked Canadians to do their part in building up the empire, and expressed the hope that he would live to see the day when the affairs of the empire would be administered by an Imperial council drawn from all the great men of the mother country and the colonies. Incidentally he expressed his disappointment at the manner in which the present Liberal government in the old country had treated the colonies.

The luncheon was one of the most successful if not the most successful ever given by the Canadian club of this city.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Reginald Pole-Carew.

this city. There was a bumper crowd and Sir Reginald's remarks were enjoyed by every person present.

The chair was occupied by Judge Lammiman, president of the club, while on his right was Sir Reginald Pole-Carew, Major Hall, Major Dupont and other military and public men.

After the courses had been disposed of Judge Lammiman briefly introduced the guest of the day. He said that recently it had been stated in the papers that Earl Roberts was to have toured the Canadian west by visiting Montreal, Toronto and other points. Sir Reginald, however, had made a real tour of Canada and he was proud to be able to introduce him to the members of the Canadian club.

After the courses had been disposed of Judge Lammiman briefly introduced the guest of the day. He said that recently it had been stated in the papers that Earl Roberts was to have toured the Canadian west by visiting Montreal, Toronto and other points.

When a year ago the premiers of Greater Britain met together in London their advances had been rejected in a way that was a disgrace to the country, and the gathering had dispersed with its members somewhat disgusted at the treatment they had received. He hoped the people of Canada would not take the voice of British government as the voice of the country in this matter, but that they would be ready to return with the representatives of the other colonies in three or four years after there had been a change in the party in power, when their advances would be differently met.

He regretted that Canada was flirting with France in the matter of a commercial treaty but he could not and did not blame Canada for so doing. He only asked Canadians, however, to wait a few years and negotiate no treaties in the meantime, and when the Conservatives had been returned to power their advances would meet with more consideration. Anyone who was watching the newspapers and reading the results of the by-elections could not help feeling how feeling was running and that there would be a change at the first opportunity.

The commercial interests of the Empire were identical but there was something more important than commercial unity. What was wanted was a policy in the interests of Greater Britain that would deal with all phases of Imperial unity. Should the affairs of the Empire be controlled by a set of men who practically had never been out of Europe and who were elected to office through their affiliation with one of the political parties of the old country. What was wanted was an Imperial council representing all great states of the Empire which in addition to being representative would also be permanent. Let the people do their best to bring pressure toward the securing of such a desirable end, and to make Canada a power in the Empire.

He thanked the members for their cordial hearing and wished to say that he was sorry that he had to leave the country to-morrow.

Amidst loud applause the distinguished guest resumed his seat.

Col. F. B. Gregory, in a few well chosen and appropriate words, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, and in doing so touched on Imperial subjects also. After expressing his pleasure at having the honor of proposing this vote he referred to Sir Reginald's long and honorable service in the interests of the empire. The Canadian club was proud to have the privilege of hearing the distinguished men of the mother country address them. To-day Canadians were thus receiving instruction, but to-morrow they would be sending their distinguished men to the old country to bear a message from a loyal Dominion, thus carrying out the Imperial partnership. But Canadians must share the burdens as well as the honor of the empire and in this they would not be behind. This great country was not made by God to be peopled by an inferior race. They had as their guest a man who had devoted his life to the service of the empire and he had just spoken so eloquently of our brothers who had gone to South Africa at the empire's call. To him the members of the club owed their sincere thanks, and it was his pleasure to move that it be conveyed to him.

Rev. W. Leslie Clay briefly seconded the motion, which was enthusiastically adopted.

In reply General Pole-Carew thanked the mover and seconder for their kindly words and also the members for the cordial manner in which it had been adopted. He must, however, apologize if he was not here whose words he allowed his political views to step on to the corner of any one present.

A Voice—"You're all right."

He only hoped that this was not good-bye. He would like to return and pitch his tent here, but he was not a young man. He was sorry that a big part of his life had been spent in the service of the empire, but he was not sorry that he had been able to do so.

While it had been suggested that Earl Roberts was going to tour Western Canada by visiting Toronto and a few other places, he wished to say that that was not Earl Roberts' idea. He might say, however, that Earl Roberts would have liked to have made a trip through Canada. He hoped that the public men of the Empire would become more closely acquainted with the various component parts outside their immediate sphere. This with the institution of an Imperial council would do more than anything else to bind the Empire together into one harmonious whole.

There was a great burst of applause after Sir Reginald took his seat, following which the luncheon was brought to a close by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "God Save the King."

PERSONAL.

George H. Pope, claims and right of way agent of the G. T. P., arrived here last night on his way to Prince Rupert, where he will make a two to three weeks' stay for the purpose of making a settlement with regard to certain questions of the railway right of way along the Skeena, where it will pass through the holdings of a number of canners on the river.

E. N. Brown, bartender, of Vancouver, is in the city. Mr. Brown is a prominent member of the Young Liberal Club of that city.

M. J. Beaton and Miss A. B. Beaton, formerly residents of Paisley, Ont., are on a visit to Victoria. They are accompanied by Mrs. L. N. McKee, of Vancouver, and are guests at the Empress.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Reginald Pole-Carew will leave to-morrow by the Empress liner for Japan.

To the infinite surprise of the members of the Times-reportorial staff, Madison, one of the beautiful ponies now showing at Pantages theatre, walked into the office on the second story of the building at noon to-day. He was followed closely by his owner, L. Morris, and Manager Ely, but Madison did not go far. The members of the staff were given an opportunity of seeing this valuable Shetland descend the stairway according to the method taught by his master—backwards. This he does without inconvenience. This little stallion was born 15 years ago at Madison Square Gardens, New York.

GRAVE OF BRAVE MEN.

750 Lives Sacrificed in the Last One Hundred Years.

For many years expeditions to Greenland and the quest of the North Pole have attracted adventurous explorers, and the lands of ice and snow have been the scene of romance, hardship, and death. More than 750 men are said to have sacrificed their lives in various expeditions during the last century. Some parties have, as in the present case, left members behind in frozen graves, while others have been entirely lost.

Without going further back than 1847, Franklin, the great navigator, and his brave companions, sacrificed their lives in completing the discovery of the Northwest passage.

A famous Arctic expedition went out in 1878, under the command of the Hansa, being frozen in and sunk.

In 1882 the Jeanette was crushed by ice, and the bodies of Captain De Long and others were found at the mouth of the Lena.

Four years later Peary left America, and penetrated 100 miles of the interior of Greenland, returning without having discovered whether it was an island or not. In 1891 he solved the problem, and announced that it was an island. Two years later he went again, with his wife and a daughter was born to them, a higher altitude than any other civilised habitation.

Peary's fourth expedition was in 1898. He sailed in the Windward, his object being to examine the northern shores of Greenland, and to reach, if possible, the North Pole. He, of course, failed to accomplish the latter purpose, although he got within 200 miles of his destination.

Here Andre made a desperate attempt to reach the North Pole by balloon in 1898, and he was never afterwards heard of.

The Jackson-Harmsworth expedition went out to Franz Josef Land in 1898, and returned in 1897. Mr. Jackson having discovered a wide channel opening on a sea to the north, and many islands forming the western portion of the Franz Josef group.

Nansen's expedition in 1895 was one of peculiar interest, his object being to drift across the ice to the North Pole, trusting to tidal currents. He got within 200 miles of the Pole, using ultimately dogs and sledges.

Captain Cagni in the Abruzzi expedition reached within 225 miles of the Pole in 1900.

Baron Toll's expedition in 1902 ended with the death of the whole party.

The American Zeigler expedition in 1905 was also a failure, the ship America being destroyed by the ice.

The latest attempt to reach the Pole was that of Mr. Wellman, whose airship last autumn was driven by a storm and wrecked upon a glacier. The gallant explorer fortunately escaped.

A PHOSPHATE ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC.

Americans are deeply interested in a singular insular development under their own auspices, in the midst of the vast Pacific Ocean. The scene is a tiny island called Nauru, which is one of the remotest Gilbert group, described by a recent visitor as "five thousand miles from nowhere." Nauru is only eighteen miles in circumference, and its population does not exceed 1,500. It is entirely of phosphate formation. An enterprising German company is exporting quantities of the rock for the manufacture of fertilizing commodities, mainly to America. The natives, who are of the Polynesian, not of the Malay or Papuan, stock, are steadily earning money to an extent they never before dreamed of. The German company is speculating that 500 Chinese coolies have been imported to develop the phosphate industry, so that this islet is perhaps the busiest little spot in the whole of the Southern or Central Pacific.

The late Harry Brown, who met his death while hunting at Lake Bunison, was a native of Victoria; eldest son of M. C. Brown, one of the pioneers who came to the coast in the early fifties, and grandson of the late James Murray, who was also one of the old-timers of '58. His death is greatly regretted by a large circle of friends in Vancouver and Victoria.

There will be a water polo game this evening at the Gorge park between Y. M. C. A. teams and a very good game should be the result. The boys are practicing hard in anticipation of a deciding game against the Vancouver Athletic club for the British Columbia championship. It is probable the game will be played at Luna Park Natatorium, Seattle.

Contributions towards the construction of the new home for aged women are being constantly received by the ladies in charge. To-day the following have been formally received in addition to those appearing in another column, compiled earlier in the day: Mrs. S. A. Spencer, $25; Messrs. Sparger & Hurlburt, Seattle, $10; Mrs. John Dougall, $10; Miss Lange, $5. A donation of one dozen sheets, one dozen pillow cases, one pair feather pillow, one pair wool blankets, two bed-spreads, half dozen linen towels were also gratefully received from Mrs. Chaplain.

What Other People Think

A VIOLATION OF THE CODE.

To the Editor:—Will you please say in a few words at the top of this letter off our undertaker to print in the Colonist or any other paper strictly within its rights to so alter a letter to the editor, or any part of it, as to give the opposite meaning to that intended by the writer? And is it not an "unwritten law" of the press everywhere, and only ordinary courtesy to take some notice of a subsequent communication, pointing out the error, if such it be? I am not intending any "trap" for you, as I have never heard of the Victoria Times acting in such a way. It is the treatment meted out to an old friend of mine who had the temerity of pointing out a mistake of the Colonist in a recent issue.

L. R.

UNIONISM RAMPANT.

To the Editor:—The band controversy is interesting if absurd. What earthly object could there be in requiring our militia band to belong to an American union in order to qualify them to play at our autumn exhibition?

The next thing we may expect will be an order issued by this American union requiring our Canadian soldiers to join their union before they can qualify for membership in a Canadian regiment. Such it is about time this Americanism was curtailed. They happen to own a small portion of the continent, and think they should run it all but there are others.

There are just as good musicians in Canada as elsewhere. I think, and if there is not, there never will be, until we prefer them, and elect to run our own business in our own way.

All honor to Col. Hall for the evidences of his loyalty. He would not have been worthy the place he so ably fills, or of citizenship even, in this great and expanding Dominion, had he not strenuously opposed such invasion.

It is said respecting Mr. Greenwood's efforts to make out a good case and get a job for his band, as appears in Sunday's Colonist, or of the editor who so lightly brushes the matter aside without citing comment. But what shall we say of the directorate of the exhibition, who have brought about so humiliating a condition, with prospective large expenditures and with the sacrifice of national honor?

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead?" Why, certainly? a whole lot of them; at least a majority of the directorate have taken to breathing in that way.

Large expenditure for music at our agricultural fairs is not justifiable, for as a matter of common knowledge but small proportion of the population who visit such fairs ever listen to the band. Usually it is so arranged that other noises prevent those hearing with any satisfaction who might attempt to listen. The standing or quality of a band is rarely in question at exhibition time. Noise, rather, seems ever then to be the chief consideration.

EX-CANADIAN BANDMAN.

COMMENTS AID. HALL.

To the Editor:—As Alderman Hall's rather famous dog legislation has been the subject of much criticism of late and certain dog owners have handed out to us through the press a lot of crystallized wisdom on the rights and liberties of dogs in general, I am compelled to take a brief space for a few words on the other side of this dog question.

Let me say at the outset that I did not vote for Alderman Hall, and did my little best to defeat that progressive ticket. I can, therefore, be regarded as a hostile witness, and as such I wish to say that if Alderman Hall's position on "other questions" had been as sound as it has been in promoting this dog-by-law he would richly deserve re-election by acclamation.

There is no law under heaven or among men which compels a man to keep a dog. If he chooses to keep one he does it voluntarily, to minister to his own pleasure or convenience, or in doing so he is bound by every principle of justice and fair play to so keep it that it shall not interfere with the pleasure, the convenience or the rights of others. The dog which is allowed to run at large in a city does frequently interfere with the pleasure, the convenience of others. Its barking and frequently does produce hydrophobia and death; it is therefore a menace to the public safety, and as such, those responsible for the good government of a city are justified in enacting stringent laws to prevent dogs from running at large. Its howling at night, which some dogs frequently do apparently out of pure capriciousness, seriously disturbs the sleep of all in the neighborhood. It gets into one's garden, and may in a short time destroy the flowers which have cost much of labor and expense in beautifying one's lawn. For this and other reasons it has been found necessary in most well-governed cities to have by-laws enacted preventing dogs from running loose on the streets. In New York all dogs running loose on the streets are shot. The same is true of Toronto. Compared with these our dog by-law is mild and gentle. In the humble opinion of the writer, therefore, that dog-by-law is all right, and it is to be hoped that Alderman Hall will have the good sense to rescind it. We stand behind it and see that it is enforced to the hilt.

AN APPEAL TO LOCAL OPTIONISTS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

To the Editor:—With your permission, Mr. Editor, I beg to appeal to all friends of temperance organizations, societies and churches throughout British Columbia to make some united effort for the purpose of local option campaign work soon to begin in our province. The legislature only needs to hear the will of the people expressed by the ballot in order to grant their request.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Sons of Temperance, the Independent Order of Good Templars and other similar societies as well as the churches, should fall into line and make one movement both for economic and effective results. I urge the heads of all these organizations to correspond, get together, discuss and organize. It is one issue—local option, and calls for one thing more—vis work. There is no secrecy, there is no denominational advantage, there is no party interest, but the common good of all the people. The business of a local option law is the business in hand.

I should be glad to hear from all over the province what is proposed and who is ready for the battle against the ravages of the liquor traffic. We can and might then form some workable committee and divide the province into districts. Cities, towns and villages must all be united. It is to be hoped that no society or denomination will run a little show of its own, but unite in one supreme effort for the common weal.

Victoria, B. C.

(REV.) D. SPENCER.

THE CONSERVATIVE PICNIC.

To the Editor:—As I had never attended a political meeting in British Columbia, and did not know by sight a single politician in the province, I thought I would run out to Sidney and take in the Conservative picnic.

The day was glorious and the gathering was large. It consisted principally of women, girls and children intent on having a good time, and they had it. As a social gathering the picnic was a great success, but as a political meeting it was tame beyond belief.

The first speaker, Capt. Waley, seemed to strike an honest note, and no one doubted him when he assured his hearers in a terse, earnest voice that "if McBride's government consisted of yellow dogs he (the candid captain) would still be a strong and staunch supporter of the British Empire." The captain's poetic metaphor was greeted with an applause which showed that his audience appreciated its aptness. The speaker did not deign to define the "great and eternal principles," but left it to be inferred that they were in some way related to the saffron-hued engines.

Mr. Barnard, the chairman, then made his little speech of thanks to the Sidney and North Saanich Conservative Association, and to the ladies and gentlemen present and to everybody concerned or unconcerned for what they had done or left undone. After which he landed upon "Riley's Breakwater."

It was still strong enough with its "three poor sticks of wood and a cross-piece" to carry him out to sea, and there he floundered piteously till he thought he would drown. But fortune favors the brave. He grabbed at Ralph Smith's coat-tails, and they proved strong enough to pull him in to land again. We were relieved to see him shake the wet off of himself and sit down.

After this aquatic performance the candidate, Mr. Shepherd, arose with a roll of manuscript in his hands to fortify his memory and stimulate his thought. He has a nice, pleasant, genteel manner, but he had scarcely begun to speak when one could but bless his forethought in providing himself with that manuscript—otherwise it was evident that he would have been in the unenviable plight of the "sticker minister." He promised to touch upon a few of the most important issues of the campaign. He touched upon two points, and two only, wherein he showed that his grasp of public affairs was not very wide, though it might be tenacious. The first was "that the administration has become lax and allowed irregularities to creep into the departments contrary to all preconceived ideas of purity and good government." Mr. Shepherd's second point was Japanese immigration.

In treating of both subjects the speaker read from his M.S. resolution after resolution offered in parliament by Messrs. Cockshutt, Barker, Foster and Borden; and, at the end of each, told in a very impressive, weighty and entirely convincing manner that it had been rejected, and he stated the figures of each vote in a dejected, solemn voice. He informed us that within ten months after the treaty with Japan over 8,000 Japanese had come to Canada. The Wellington Colliery Co. had brought 500 of them, and the C. P. R. 2,000. He did not inform us how the balance got here. So we presume they swam over or paddled their own canoes. Neither did the speaker tell us whence he procured his figures, and everybody knows that figures will lie—it's a bad habit they have entirely—even though the man who uses them would sooner to do so. And so on laboriously quoting Mr. Borden, Mr. Borden and others, the gentle speaker proved to his own proud satisfaction that the government was responsible for the presence of the Japs and that the Japs were bad, undesirable and worse than the seven plagues of Egypt. It never occurred to him to say that the people of British Columbia did not want Japs they should not employ them, and the Mr. McBride government should not have granted them concessions or privileges. No! It was quite another set of corns that the would-be member wished to tread upon.

Once, when the speaker was able to tear himself away from his beloved M.S. and to break out into originality, he said that the only argument which could be advanced in favor of Oriental labor was that there was not sufficient white labor to develop the resources of the country, and he added: "This is a good condition of things for the present, for it shows we have wealth stored up for future development and we can afford to let it lie—he as a heritage for the rising generation," etc. It did not seem to occur to him that there had been too much of the "let it lie" policy in British Columbia already—it was noticeable that Mr. McBride led the applause which followed the enunciation of this sentiment. He evidently believes that we should "let it be." Perhaps this is one of Capt. Waley's "great eternal principles."

If I were an Irishman I might be tempted to say that the most remarkable parts of Mr. Shepherd's speech were those he left out of it. He evidently had not heard of the government's efforts to restrict Japanese immigration and of Mr. Drury's successful mission to Japan and the result of it. He has yet to learn of the new civil service act and that the traitorous Tory appointees in the fisheries department had been inconveniently kicked out. Knowledge of the government immigration policy, the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Welland and Trent canals and the All-Red Route has not yet reached Mr. Shepherd's ear. But some day, perhaps, he will learn of them—when Mr. Ralph Smith goes out Sidney way.

So with regret we say good-bye to Mr. Shepherd and his M.S.

Mr. McPhillips was the next speaker. When he arose a young lady near me said to her companion: "Oh! what a love of a moustache. See how the ends stick straight out—them's ticklers." I wish Joe had!"

Mr. McPhillips was pleased and congratulatory. He prophesied what Mr. Shepherd would do when on the floor of the House of Commons. He praised Mr. McBride's government from its head to its tail; and he said that Mr.

Borden would be a worthy successor to that great genius the late Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald. Later on he said that the Conservative party had made Canada a nation, etc., which was due to that "immortal Briton Sir John Alexander Macdonald." After that Mr. McPhillips sat down with his "ticklers," but without having referred to the exodus of Canadians to the United States during "Sir John's" administration, or their return during Sir Wilfrid's.

Mr. McBride arose and asked to be permitted to express his pleasure, etc. He was permitted. The young lady above referred to said "what beautiful hair he has, and how nicely frizzed behind."

Mr. McBride proceeded to butter Mr. Shepherd; then he oiled Mr. St-Phillips, after which he fairly oozed his "holly-oily best" over everybody but the unsanctified Grits. He said there was "an exceeding charm and attraction in the history of the triumphant achievements of the Conservative party," but he did not specifically refer to the Pacific Scandal, or the "send in another ten thousand" telegram, or the "unfortunate Langevin Business," or the "hiving of the Grits," as among its achievements. He awaited at Mr. Scott of Saskatchewan, but missed him, drove at the Times and Mr. Templeman, but fell short, spared for time to fight the federal government, made a Don Quixote tilt at "Riley's Breakwater," took a very shy shot at the Japs (remembering some past things), doubted if Mr. Drury had "turned the trick," and then retired with his face wreathed in smiles to assist in the Queen of Beauty contest.

Last but not least came Mr. Tatlow. He spoke quietly, sensibly and unaffectedly for a few minutes, told what he had done and what he hoped still to do as a member of the government. There was but one thing in his short speech that any one could find fault with—his half promise to compensate those who had suffered loss in the interests of the community. This was understood to be a reference to the loss of fruit, destroyed because of the insect pest. Promises of this kind on the eve of an election say savor of bribery, but I doubt if any such thought entered Mr. Tatlow's head.

AS SEEN FROM SMITH'S HILL.

To the Editor: The beauties of Victoria district cannot be seen more completely, more easily, or to greater advantage than from the site of the reservoir on Smith's Hill, from which, around and beneath, on every side, is seen a panorama of noble views, as surely are not excelled anywhere, and I suggest that a little more land be taken in and beautified at slight expense, and a carriage drive laid down around the confines of the reservoir, by which, while serving its useful purpose, the reservoir could be made at slight extra expense to furnish the city with a new scenic attraction second to none already possessed by it, and that, too, well within the city limits.

I have in Europe seen reservoir sites so treated as to make them pleasure resorts or public parks, but nowhere have I seen a reservoir site with such magnificent possibilities of this description, or a place commanding views more calculated to live in the memory of the townspeople, as Smith's Hill.

BANDS AND BANDS.

To the Editor:—May I use your columns to express a few thoughts upon the controversy regarding the contract for music at the forthcoming Victoria fair? Several misleading statements have been made by Col. Hall and Mr. Jewess, whether intentional or not matters little—they are misleading.

To get the rights of this matter we should go back a few months, when Bandmaster Rumbey was disqualified by the Musicians' Union for an infraction of its laws, and later on lost his standing in the union. At that time he practically stated he would run "his" band as he saw fit, union or no union. He has placed himself upon the "unfair" list, or "scabbed," as the term goes, and it is against a scab band, and not against the Fifth Regiment, the present pronounced stand is taken.

To the general public, perhaps, one "union" is as good as the other, and the real union man is willing to let Col. Hall and Mr. Jewess and everyone else have their own opinion upon the subject. But the practical union men of Victoria do know the difference, and they have placed the band ever which Mr. Rumbey presides upon the unfair list, and will keep it there until he abides by the rules under which they have decided to follow their profession. Mr. Shear, at business manager of the fair, probably appreciated the loss the association would sustain if he featured a scab band, for union men (as well as Mr. Rumbey) would surely withhold their support from any affair conducted upon unfair lines. The concert given by the Fifth Regiment band, U.S.A. year have drawn no hearers from the ranks of union labor, though they are free.

The Vancouver, Nanaimo and Victoria City bands also exercised their right to run their own business, and refused to play except upon conditions which suited them.

As to the assertion that the City band is controlled by foreigners, one need only remember that a very large percentage of the musicians of the City band are old-timers in Victoria and most of them are property holders. Exactly adverse conditions prevail in the Fifth Regiment band, and if, as Col. Hall says, the latter are such good men, why was it necessary for sixteen of them to leave London, Eng., and travel 7,000 miles to Victoria, B. C., to act as strike breakers? That surely is not a patriotic act. They should have remained at home.

The members of the City band are in affiliation with the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, the controlling labor union body of Canada from Atlantic to the Pacific, whereas the members of the Fifth Regiment band are in affiliation with no one except a few expelled members of different unions and disgruntled seceders who found they could not dominate the unions to which they formerly belonged.

No exception has yet been taken to the grant of $1,000 to the female fire sufferers by the Eagles, a United States fraternal body, nor to the fact that the C. P. R. is bringing in men from the United States to take the place of good Canadians (and British) formerly in its employ. That's the natural outcome of practical business ideas, and that's the line workmen will follow in this music affair.

And, man-for-man, there's just as much patriotism in the make-up of the union man in Victoria as there is in the man "higher up."

VETERANS MAKE

BAND BEING EXCLUDED

Record Their Disapproval of Exhibition Management's Action About Bands.

The principal business discussed at the monthly meeting of the British Campaigners' Association, which was held in the drill hall last Friday, related to the action of the exhibition management in excluding the Fifth Regiment band from the musical programme at the coming provincial fair.

After considerable discussion, a resolution was moved by S. C. Thompson, seconded by W. F. Beaver, and carried unanimously, that:

"This meeting hears with regret that the executive of the provincial exhibition have decided to award all the musical work of the exhibition to bands affiliated with a foreign union; to the exclusion of the band of the Fifth Regiment, Canadian artillery, who are members of a Canadian union, and many of whom have fought for King and country in different parts of our great Empire."

"This meeting wishes to place on record its disapproval of such action, and trusts that more patriotic views will prevail on the reconsideration of the matter by the exhibition executive committee, and herewith instructs the secretary to forward a copy of this resolution to the exhibition active committee and to the local press."

The matter of securing a home for the association was also discussed. This is all the more necessary, as it is expected that the drill hall will not always be available for the meetings.

Reverend Admiral Fleet, who is returning to the mother country after a long residence in Victoria, was given a great send-off by the campaigners.

W. C. Warren, on behalf of the association, expressed his keen regret at the near departure of one of the association's most valued and earnest workers, who was a charter member and a sincere devotee to benevolent works in aid of old campaigners.

Mr. Warren spoke of the admiral as one "whose presence at our meetings has always given that pleasure which comes from the reciprocal sentiments of active service days into indissoluble friendships."

Admiral Fleet thanked the officers and members of the association very heartily. He felt sure that the association had every prospect of a bright future.

CANADIAN CLUB LUNCHEON.

Lieut.-General Sir Reginald Pole-Carew's address to the Victoria Canadian Club this afternoon was that of a military man accustomed to speaking his mind regardless of consequences. It was well received, being intensely Imperialistic in sentiment, and therefore in harmony with the views of at least a considerable majority of Britons beyond the seas. Yet we may be permitted to express our doubts as to the expediency of the Canadian Club being made the vehicle for the dissemination of political doctrine, whether that doctrine be ultra-Imperial or extreme Radicalism, whether relating to the existing order at Westminster, at Ottawa, or in any other section of His Majesty's Dominions. We do not know that the distinguished British soldier's address gave offence to any at the luncheon board in the Driford Hotel today, but it is easily conceivable of at least a portion of the gathering representing some of the vigorous thinkers said about the government at present in power in Great Britain, a government which, with all its shortcomings, is a government of the people, not of a select number of the people. The Canadian Club is a distinctly non-political institution. Its value and its permanency depend upon this distinctive attribute of its character being strictly maintained.

The able speaker's address, however, was well worth listening to. The pity is that a considerable number of those who purchased tickets at an increased price, on the implied understanding that the service and the surroundings would be above the ordinary, were deprived of the pleasure of hearing it on account of the loud tones in which conversation was carried on at the surrounding tables.

DOGS—AND MEN.

We are willing to concede that the people who have undertaken to legislate drastically and to write scathing letters about the dog and his manners mean well, but we fear they neither legislate nor write understandingly. That there are vagrant curs which for lack of proper control, upbringing and education, have reverted to the ways of their forefathers, the wolf and the fox, or whatever their forbears may have been, is acknowledged. That such canine vagabonds should be dealt with in accordance with their deserts no reasonable person is disposed to question. The ways of the wild are troublesome in the streets of cities, in trim gardens and well-kept public parks. But there are dogs and dogs, just as there are men and men, women and women, children and children. To those who have had the good fortune of intimate association with the animal creation there is not a single creature of all the animal kingdom endowed with so many winsome qualities as the dog. Of all the beasts over which man has been given dominion in most respects he is the chief. Possibly he is not as useful as the horned beasts of the field or the horse and his kind. He may not be as intelligent as the elephant. But he is the only four-footed animal which can be completely taken into the confidence of his master and made a companion of. Why the poor, misguided fellow attaches himself to the so-called lord of creation, lavishes all the affection of a deeply-loving heart upon one who in general vouchsafes such a meagre return, is one of the mysteries that passeth all understanding.

We have been giving some consideration to the cases of those who write so contemptuously and so bitterly of the dog. The only excuse we can find for them is that they have no real understanding of their subject. They write as strangers who have never enjoyed the confidence of the subject of their discourses. We say, without intention of giving offence, that they are akin to the Chinaman, for whom all canine creation has a rooted, ineradicable antipathy. As Heliwell Sutcliffe says, in his charming work, "A Bachelor in Arcady": "With dogs it is the same; they come and talk to you in an open, undissembling way, and persevere if your smile is an honest one and a grateful if you have no doggy corner in your heart they will not trouble you for long, but if you have they will go forward, patiently and uncomplainingly, with the labor of teaching you their speech."

For the benefit of the persons, limited in number in this city of Victoria we hope, who have not a "doggy corner in their hearts," and whose smile therefore cannot be an honest one, we are tempted to quote a few passages from the "Arcady": "It goes without saying that we are doggy. Arcady would lack a primary charm if it were dogless, and there are four to keep us company. Chief of the tribe, in dignity and consciousness of the same, is Angus, the Scotch hound. His full title is Angus MacLeod, but intimates preferring the shorter style—while Cathy, I regret to say, will address him only by the corrupted name of 'Cloudy.' From MacLeod to Cloudy is only a step; but it is the step from the sublime to the ridiculous, and the good beast feels it. I can see, though natural courtesy and a marked liking for the child allow him to show his feelings as little as may be."

"There is no doubt that Angus MacLeod is a gentleman of fine blood and finer manners. The vulgarities of life, the foolish interludes enjoyed by meaner dogs are as if they were not for MacLeod; he sits like a model of some antique picture, and his lofty nose is reared above the common issues of our world. You can love friend Angus, and he can love you with unstinting loyalty; but there is a reserve about him, a pleasant Scotch reserve, that marks even the softest amenities between dog and master. Angus would not give way to tears, I believe, if anything happened to me; but his grief would be no less sincere for its repression."

"Donald, the Irish setter, is just a sportsman; he has few interests apart from hunting; and, like all specialists who have cleverness to back their industry, he has made a wonderfully finished art of sport. His one drawback is a tendency to criticism; he knows his subject, and is entitled to speak with authority; but it is none the less irritating, when one has missed an easy shot, to see him turn his head and talk to one for one's good. He atones for this, however, by applauding a good bit of marksmanship; for surely no tail ever in this world expressed such glee as Donald's can."

"Then, Tom Lad has his farm dog, who, like Donald, has his own special interests in life, and who pursues them with grave and admirable industry. Shep is not beautiful, according to accepted canons; but he has every point that belongs to that old North Country breed of sheep dog which is dying out so fast. Grey of body, square of head, uncompromising of will, he can show himself as lithe as a hound when sheep or cattle are to be driven; he has, too, an unquenchable fondness for children, and of this, his one luxury, he is ashamed."

"Last of all comes Flick the fox terrier. Poor Flick! He has a good many years behind him, and his place is by the hearth, where he can sit and read fire pictures of the past amid the glowing coals. Flick's pedigree is as long as Lady Love Lane, and mighty sires have fathered him and his; but old age imparts neither peasant nor aristocrat, and pride of race glows dim within his doggy soul."

"Ah, poor Flick, indeed! The thought of him brings one always to that vexed problem of the keeping of old dogs. Is it right, is it fair to the outworn beast himself? How often that question will obtrude itself—is it kindly to let an old familiar comrade die of a senility that is comfortless altogether? A dog grows to be more than a dog after long years of friendship, and, to put aside the course of Nature, seems murder; on the other hand, this lame, bear-eyed, unhealthy bit of dogdom is so pitiously unlike the terrier one has known. It will sadden the retrospect when he is gone to think of him in these last days."

"He was so game, so full of the joy of his days, and he feels the loss of things that are worth while. This morning only he limped beside me up the river path, and a brown rat got out from the waterlogged roots almost beneath his nose; and he poked his head with a pathetic imitation of the real terror, and a pained shiver ran through his body. But that was all; the rat was away; and my old friend turned to look at me—so wistfully, so shamefacedly. He asked me, in plain speech, where his lusty doghood had gone, and why it had gone, and of what use he was in a world of shadows. And I could not answer him."

"Poor Flick! I can see so many questions in his eyes of late. He feels his weakness and resents it, as brave folk do. He does not want to crawl about and blink his hours away in sunlit corners; he wants to be up and doing, and he cannot talk out the mysteries of life and fate. Surely, surely, he would be better away from the useless flesh that cumber all the soul of him."

"Yet one could never sanction a friend's murder. He trusts one so; and even now, as he does in the sun, there come to him, I fancy, vague hopes of better things in store; he is not well, he tells himself, but with another spring he will be strong again; and perhaps—who knows?—such hopes make life still bearable for him."

"At any rate it is saddening, and a man knows not what to do. One thing only can be done—to talk to him; to invent quiet ways of soothing out his leisure; to pretend that one finds him still the brave old Flick of yore. And the process is humanizing."

"But yet—is it right to keep him? Poor Flick!"

"As usual, I am scribbling on the seat beneath the lime trees, and I am roused from my absorption by the voice of quiet sorrow which is Flick's alone. I look down to find him lying across my boots—a favorite attitude of his—and his eyes as they meet mine seem to understand that I know all about his troubles."

"The quotation is rather long, but it is surely one of the few latter-day classics, and we commend it to the consideration of those who are so unfortunately constituted as to be persecutors of man's only four-footed companion and friend."

WHERE DOES THE MONEY COME FROM?

It turns out now that the opposition to Premier Scott of Saskatchewan was financed by the Roblin-Rogers organization in Winnipeg, which, like the McBride-Green combination in British Columbia, has money to spend on federal and outside elections. Here is what Premier Scott himself has to say: "As I pointed out at Saturday night's meeting, it will scarcely be possible, after the exposures and confessions of this campaign, for Mr. Haultain any longer to wear a non-partisan cloak. But for the desperate use made of the forces sent hurriedly to his aid in response to the appeal he sent to Mr. Borden the first moment he learned of dissolution Mr. Haultain would have carried only five or six seats. They made it really a federal party contest, and their organization centre was not Regina, but Winnipeg. On our side the Liberals at Ottawa left us entirely to our own resources. They did not raise a finger to assist us. In fact, I did not ask them to do so. When I was at Ottawa in July I gave them no hint of my intention as to the elections. I requested no aid and they offered none. It was too late in the campaign before I became aware of the forces Mr. Borden and Mr. Rogers of Manitoba were throwing into Saskatchewan against us to allow time for our federal friends to do anything to offset them. I did not bother, therefore, to ask for aid. It was an unequal contest in that respect, but the outcome is all the more satisfactory to me."

As previously stated in these columns the Privy Council in the case of Watts v. Watts has confirmed the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of British Columbia in the matter of divorce proceedings. Lord Collins, who delivered their lordships' judgment, concluded with the following reference to recent events: "Since the decision of the present case by Mr. Justice Clement, Mr. Justice Martin, in the case of 'Sheppard vs. Sheppard,' decided April 1st, 1936, has refused to follow it, and has given his reasons at length in a very able and elaborate judgment, tracing the evolution of divorce jurisdiction in the colony back to its first beginnings and removing some apparent misapprehension on the part of Mr. Justice Clement as to the attitude of Chief Justice Begbie towards this jurisdiction after the decision of 'S. v. S.' In the opinion of their lordships, the reasons given in the judgments of Justices Gray and Crease in 'S. v. S.' together with the recent critical survey of the ultimate situation by Mr. Justice Martin in 'Sheppard vs. Sheppard,' place the question beyond discussion, and it seems to their lordships, with all deference to Mr. Justice Clement, that his opinion to the contrary cannot be supported. Their lordships will, therefore, humbly advise His Majesty that the appeal should be allowed, the judgment appealed from set aside, and the case remitted to the Supreme Court to be decided on its merits. There will be no order as to the costs of the appeal."

London Advertiser: Premier Scott has not skulked behind insinuation or Parliamentary privilege in attacking his opponents. He made his charges publicly, and offered to prove them before the law. Whether they are proved or not, Mr. Scott deserves credit for fighting in the open, instead of in ambush, as the Ottawa slanderers are doing.

MOB VIOLENCE DUE TO STRIKE ON C. P. R.

Men When Returning From Angus Shops Are Assaulted.

(Special to the Times).

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The first mob-violence reported in the C. P. R. strike occurred last night on the Papineau road, when four men, Armand Masse, a French-Canadian, with two companions and a Jew, were returning on a train from the Angus shops.

The train was stopped at Papineau road for the convenience of the men, when a mob of 300, supposedly strikers' sympathizers, rushed up and asked them if they were going to quit work. The Jew attempted to throw off his coat when a number made a hostile move. Then the Jew either fell or was pushed into a ditch. Later he was found to have broken his leg, whether by the fall or by a blow was unknown. Masse was badly cut on the head with a club, and other strike breakers were beaten. There were two mobs one at Mile End station and the other at Papineau road. No arrests have been made so far.

TRAGEDY SUCCEEDS TRAGEDY.

Man and Wife Loop the Loopers Fatally Injured During Act.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A special from Cornell, N. Y., says that Thos. Hurley, a trick bicycle rider, was fatally injured there this morning. Hurley was at the top of a sixty-foot ladder making ready for a loop-the-loop act when he fell to the ground. At the hospital it was found that both of Hurley's legs were broken and he is injured internally. Hurley had just returned from Albany to see his wife, who is dying from the effects of a similar act.

STAGE COACH HELD UP.

Robber Relieves Wyoming Passengers of $1,500.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Cody, Wyo., states that the stage running between that place and Meeteetse, Wyo., was held up to-day by a robber and the passengers were robbed to the extent of $1,500. Because of the distance separating the places, the robbery was evidently not committed by the highwayman who held up the stage in Yellowstone Park yesterday.

SCHOOL TEACHER'S CRIMES.

Stabs Both Father and Son Because Latter Tells Former of Punishment.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 25.—Henry Fisher, aged 50 years, a prominent farmer of Lincoln township, was cut and fatally wounded, and his son stabbed and seriously wounded yesterday at the Dewey schoolhouse in that township, by Gerald Lewis, a school teacher, who is alleged to have punished the boy for a misdeed, and who was said to have quarrelled with the boy's father when the latter went to the school to investigate the matter. The boy was cut while attempting to assist his father. The weapon used was an ordinary pocket knife. Officers from this city were dispatched to the scene to arrest the teacher.

U. S. TENNIS CHAMPIONS.

Alexander and Beals Wright Meet in Final of Men's Singles.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 25.—F. B. Alexander of New York and B. C. Wright of Boston won their matches in the semi-finals of the all-comers' national tennis tournament to-day and will meet in the finals to-morrow. Alexander defeated former champion Wm. J. Clothier of Philadelphia in three sets to love, the scores being 7-5, 7-5, 6-4. While Wright put out Nathaniel Emerson of Chicago three sets to one, the score being 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. The defeat of Clothier was the surprise of the tournament.

YACHT CLUB MURDER CASE.

New York Aug. 24.—Capt. Peter C. Hains and his brother T. Jenkins Hains were taken from the Queens County Jail to-day and arraigned in the magistrate's court in Long Island city, the former charged with the killing of William E. Annis at the Bay-side Yacht Club over a week ago, and the brother with being an accessory to the act.

Flood of Anonymous Letters Follow Springfield Race Riots.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—Employers of negro labor in Springfield are being threatened by a flood of anonymous letters which has been growing in volume daily since the race riots. For the first few days it was thought the letters were the work of boys or irresponsible individuals, but yesterday the condition of affairs was found to justify an investigation by Governor Deneen.

A delegation of negroes visited the governor and promised to co-operate with the law-abiding whites in investigating the letters.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 25.—A farmer named Turner, residing about ten miles from the city, was shot and killed last night by his son.

Bad blood has existed for some time between them because the younger Turner was in love with his stepmother, a young girl whom his father had married a short time ago. Young Turner was arrested and locked up in jail for this crime.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Choce, following the example of the notorious Carrie Nation, went into Golden's hotel, on James street, on Saturday afternoon, and because her husband was being served with liquor she threw a glass through an expensive mirror, and proceeded to otherwise demolish things. She was arrested and was hauled out later by her husband.

CHARGES AGAINST JEROME.
Commissioner Hand-Reports They Are Unfounded and Recommends Dismissal of Case.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Richard L. Hand, of Elizabethtown, who was appointed by Governor Hughes to take testimony and report his findings upon the charges filed against District Attorney William Travers Jerome, of

New York county, by a minority of the stockholders' committee of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, in a report submitted to the governor yesterday, finds that not one of the series of charges is proved, but that all are disproved upon the evidence. He recommends the dismissal of the charges.

Committee Report That No Satisfactory Arrangement Can Be Made With C.P.R.

THE DOG BYLAW IS IMPERFECT

IS THE OPINION OF ACTING MAGISTRATE

Stated Case is Allowed to Be Taken to Higher Court.

According to the acting police magistrate, George Morphy, the new dog tax by-law is defective and non-effective. This morning after hearing argument in the case taken against the by-law for alleged violation of the new measure, Mr. Morphy decided against the by-law. He allowed a stated case to be taken to the higher courts in order that a final decision might be reached on the subject.

The section about which the trouble arose is that of the by-law, which reads as follows: "No person shall permit any dog accompanying him to damage or injure any public or private property of the city or of any citizen. And it shall be the duty of every person accompanying a dog so to control or secure his dog whilst passing through the inhabited streets of the city that no injury to property is caused. And particularly no person shall, within the fire limits have with him or permit a dog to run on the public streets unless the dog be attached by a sufficient means of securely attaching and retaining the dog."

H. Shandley, who represented Mr. Solly, argued that this section was worded as to be meaningless. There was nothing to show definitely that the owner of a dog was to do. There was nothing to show to what the dog should be attached. Various other defects were pointed out also.

In answer to this, the prosecutor, Mr. Moore, argued that according to judgments in the B. C. courts a liberal interpretation should be placed on the section. Quoting from the chief justice in a judgment given some time ago, he used the following taken from the judgment:

"Taking the ordinary grammatical construction of the by-law as nonsensical and we must construe it, if possible, so as to prevent this result, as we are not to hold any legislation meaningless or absurd unless the language used is absolutely nonsensical."

The acting magistrate, however, held that the wording of the clause was ungrammatical and he could not come to any conclusion as to its meaning from reading. He also declared that there was a contract as urged by Mr. Shandley, inasmuch as the license taken out for the year was still unexpired.

He therefore dismissed the action.

On Mr. Moore asking for a stated case the acting magistrate allowed it so that it might be argued in the higher courts.

In the case taken against J. M. Nakano, of resisting the pound keeper, by refusing his dog after it had been captured, W. Moreby, who appeared for the case, there was a contract between the city and the owner of the dog by virtue of the license taken out and which had not expired.

The case was remanded until the 28th.

—A nice merchants' lunch is to be had daily at the St. Francis hotel dining-room, on Yates street, from 12 to 2 p. m. Mr. Musgrove, proprietor of the hotel, has taken over the dining room, which will in future be under his supervision and nothing has been done to make this the best merchants' lunch on the Pacific Coast, and not high priced. Yours for 25c a meal.

The council last night decided that in future all men employed on civic works by the day shall be paid twice a month, on the sixth and twentieth, or as near those dates as is possible. This step was recommended in the report of the streets, bridges and sewers committee but the recommendation was not adopted without considerable debate.

When the report of the committee recommending the change had been read, Ald. Cameron suggested changing the dates mentioned in the report, as it would be impossible for the treasurer's department to get the pay sheets ready, as the officials already had all they could do to prepare the time sheets for those who were now paid semi-monthly on the 10th and twenty-fourth, and on being told that the dates be made the tenth and twenty-fourth, which would give the officials a few days' time.

Ald. Norman inquired how many days' pay would be kept back if the men were paid on the tenth and twenty-fourth, and on being told that there would be ten days he objected to this, as the men affected were all day laborers and could not well afford to have that amount of money always held back from them.

Ald. Fullerton said the change to a semi-monthly pay day would be of benefit to the small merchants of the city. While the start in holding ten days' pay from the men might work some hardship he thought that afterwards it would make no difference to them.

Ald. Fullerton objected to the keeping back of ten days' pay from the city workmen. They should be paid right up to the day, if possible. The city had absolutely no right to withhold these men's pay.

Ald. Hall was at a loss to understand Ald. Fullerton's objection. Up to the present these men had been paid monthly. A request had been presented that they be paid semi-monthly. The council was doing its best to meet this request but was met with objections. Why was this, for wages-paying, or what? He recognized the increased work that the change would entail in the city treasurer's office which might interfere with getting out all the pay sheets promptly, but thought that the council should fix some definite day, on which the pay would be forthcoming.

Ald. Henderson explained that the date had not been actually fixed in the report, but was left with the city treasurer to fix a date that would be most convenient. If these men were to be paid the same day as the other workmen it would mean that more help might have to be secured in the treasurer's office.

Ald. Cameron explained that the city treasurer had now 21 pay sheets to prepare as against two a few years ago. Despite this increase in the work there had been no corresponding increase in the treasurer's office. There were now 500 or 600 men on the pay roll and there was consequently a lot of detail work in connection with checking up the time, etc. There was a lot of further discussion at the end of which the report of the committee on the subject was adopted. The report also recommended that the mains for the high pressure salt water system be laid where possible in order that paving work might proceed. It read as follows:

1. Recommended that a pipe culvert be put in on Alpha street to carry off the surface water from the property of Mr. Hornbrook. Estimated cost, $75.00.

2. Recommended that the engineer's department be instructed to furnish a list of trees which overhang the sidewalks and are an obstruction to pedestrians, such list to be forwarded to the commissioners with a request that the by-law governing overhanging trees be strictly enforced.

3. Recommended that the work of laying the mains for the high pressure salt water system of fire protection be undertaken at once on the following streets, in order that they may be paved this fall, viz., Government street, between Fisguard and Johnson streets; Broughton street, between Wharf and Douglas streets, and Broad street, between Fort and Broughton streets. The pipe required for this work to be borrowed from the water works department, and returned upon the arrival of the mains ordered for this purpose.

4. Recommended the purchase of 2,200 feet of 2nd class pipe for drainage purposes, from the B. C. Pottery Co., the pipe to be ordered and paid for when required.

5. Recommended that all employees of the city working for day wages be paid twice a month, on the 6th and 20th, or as near thereto as may be convenient.

6. Recommended that the city engineer be instructed to furnish the B. C. Electric Railway Co. with the proper grades of Cook street from Pakington to May streets, May street from Cook street to Dallas road, and Dallas road from May street to Fairfield road.

7. Recommended that the matter of constructing a gravel walk along the western boundary of Beacon Hill Park from Blincoe street to Niagara street, be referred to the public parks board.

8. Recommended that Mr. George Elliott be informed that the council cannot grant his request for a sewer on Taylor street, for the reason that this street is out of the sewer area and there is no sewer system provided for this section of the city.

Recommended that a surface drain be constructed on Hillside avenue, near Quadra street, provided sufficient funds are available for the purpose. Estimated cost $400.

Re sewer on Richardson street.

from Moss street to St. Charles street. Recommended that this sewer cannot be laid at present, as the balance of the money on hand from the last sewer will have to be expended on streets where there are the most houses, but as it is the policy of the council to have the whole city sewered, when sufficient houses are built on Richardson street to warrant the installation of a sewer, the work will be done.

10. Recommended that subdivision plan of part of section 3, Finlayson estate, Victoria district, be approved.

All expenditures contemplated in the foregoing to be subject to favorable report thereon by the finance committee and adoption of said report by the council.

MINISTERS RETURN FROM THEIR TRIP

Hon. Dr. Young Reached City Last Night From North.

Hon. Dr. Young returned to Victoria last evening from a trip made to the northern part of B. C. He was accompanied by Attorney-General Bowser, who stopped off at Vancouver on their return.

On their tour the ministers went as far as Prince Rupert, making calls at various other points, including ports on Queen Charlotte Islands. At Bella Coola, Prince Rupert and on the islands meetings were held, which were addressed by the ministers.

The Queen Charlotte Islands, says Hon. Dr. Young, are showing wonderful progress. In the line of mining the work so far is largely prospecting and good showings have been made. Quite a number of farmers have gone in and taken up land, and at a district known as Lorne there are about 40 or 50 settlers. The climate is good and the prospects of the Queen Charlotte Islands becoming an important part of the province are very bright.

At Prince Rupert there are a lot of people and good progress is being made. Various other points, such as Swanson Bay, the site of the pulp works, are coming into prominence.

The Times business office is open every evening until 9:30 o'clock for receiving advertisements and the transaction of other business.

RAFFLES HAD SOME VERY NARROW ESCAPES LAST EVENING

One Man Brought His Blood Hound to the Theatre to Take Up the Trail.

Last night the mysterious White Swan Soap man had the closest call of being captured during his stay in this city. In some instances remarks were passed that he (Raffles), was not at the building. But, nevertheless Raffles successfully passed in the doors, unnoticed. One man even went so far as to bring his dog with him and make him fast to a chair, no doubt in the hopes the bloodhound would scent the mysterious one. But even at that, he failed to capture the man, who has baffled the public for the past eight days, and who is so anxious to part with the money offered for his capture. R. MARPOLE VISITING VICTORIA TO-DAY

He is Concerned Over Reports of Fresh Fires on Island.

R. Marpole, general executive assistant of the C. P. R., who returned to B. C. a few days ago from a trip to the Old Land, is in Victoria to-day. He is busily engaged in catching up with his work and will not make a long stay in Victoria at the present. In a day or two he will return, however, and make a trip up the E. & N. to inspect the work now in progress on the extension of the railway line. Mr. Marpole is very much concerned with respect to the reported bush fires in the Alberni district. The company looks to the wooded areas there as the means of furnishing freight for the new line for some years to come. The loss by fire is therefore something to be dreaded by the company officials and Mr. Marpole hopes that the conditions are not as bad as have been reported.

After his trip to Europe the C. P. R. executive assistant is in the best of health. He enjoyed his visit very much and was kept busy answering inquiries about this province. By special request he addressed private gatherings at different times on the conditions in British Columbia and the attention it offered. In many ways he did good work in advertising the advantages of the Pacific province. Mr. Marpole says he found a great amount of interest taken in this part of the Dominion.

BEST HALF MILE TRACK IN WEST

PRaised, AS FAR AWAY AS NEW YORK

Fall Meeting Will See Several Prominent Men and Second Clipping Horses.

The Willows beach track, upon which the races will be held next month, is looked on by eminent racing men as the best half-mile track west of Salt Lake. There is one track that is thought to be superior and that is the mile track at Yakima, but for half-mile tracks on the coast and in the west racing men, it is found, consider that the local track is without an equal. Moreover, they are all looking forward to the fall meeting for the conditions under which the races are held here are such as tend themselves to the appreciation of all straight-going horse men. The fall meeting here is already an assured success and sporting men of the best reputation in the Sound are getting their horses together and singling out a string to bring here for the four-day meeting. In Seattle recently a meeting of well-known horse men discussed the Willows track and the clean conditions under which the last three meetings here have been conducted. The general opinion after the discussion was that for a place to race their horses safely and enjoy themselves while conducting their business and to make a little money there is no better place in the west than Victoria.

One of the owners who was in the group at the Meadows discussing the Willows track is in Victoria and will have a small string here at the fall meeting. Discussing the track the location and the conduct of the Victoria meetings last night A. R. Dennis, owner of Sadie H., Youth and John J. Moore, which horses he will bring here this fall, said:

The Willows track is the best half-mile track west of Salt Lake, and there is only one track in the west that can beat it and that is a mile track and is at Yakima. I know from the experience I have had on the Willows track, where I have raced my horses for three meetings, that a man is taking less chances in breaking down his horses on any other half-mile track in the west this side of Salt Lake. The track used to have one fault and that was the pebbles but I understand that at the last meeting these were not so bad as before and they are fast being kicked out of the ground. The track is hatched, the turns are good, and any good horse will take them. If a horse won't take them then he is a bad horse. From the point of accommodation your track is all right and is as good as that at any half-mile track in the country. With the new improvements that have been effected out there, you will have an ideal little track. Sam Hildreth's trainer came to me in Seattle after the spring meeting and said that he had heard of the Willows track as being the best in the west before he left New York. He asked me a lot about it and I was glad to give him the information. I have raced three times here, and have found all the meetings good and and Victoria a congenial place to race in. The track has always been fast and is in right good shape, and with the new arrangements will offer especially fine inducements to horsemen to bring their horses here.

The success of the fall meeting is assured and will draw a number of prominent owners both of Canada and the United States. Among those who will be here that have already announced their intention of coming and the horses they will bring are A. R. Dennis with Youth, Sadie H. and John J. Moore, Gabriel with Lord of the Forest, Nonnie Lucelle, Miss Fairbanks, Uncle Henry and Topee. McNeill will bring Titus 2nd again and possibly two others. William Kane is to be here with Convent Belle, the fast horse which broke the world's half-mile record in Seattle this month. Sea Lord, Lord Provost, Forest Rose and Jockey Mounce. From the St. James stable there will be several horses which the Canadian horseman who owns the stable will bring. Red Walker has also announced his intention of bringing a string of horses here if the weather is good.

Seattle men talking of the manner in which the meetings are conducted here speak in high approbation. They assert that straight racing gives them more pleasure than it gives the public, and the general trend, it is asserted by those in the business, is that the sport is fast becoming once more a gentleman's pastime and business and the bad element that a few years ago hung to the courses had been driven out by the rigid rules of the track being enforced especially in regard to the Emeraldville track at California. The set rules of racing and the hammering down of anything that borders on fixing a race in Victoria has given the sportsman much gratification and all look forward to the meetings held here with pleasure, for they announce that they are assured of a straight go, fair dealing, and a congenial week's business and pleasure combined.

BANKERS' GAMES ARE NOW DOWN TO FINALS

Seattle Tournament Commences To-day—Local Players Are Engaged.

The bankers' tennis tournament is drawing to a close and there are three men left in the singles, Cambie, Edgney and McDougall. Cambie and McDougall will play on Wednesday evening and a date will then be fixed for the winner to play Edgney. Cambie and Holler and Rome and Wilson are in the doubles and have one set remaining to play. Cambie and Holler won the first set 6-3. Rome and Wilson won the second 15-12, after a long tussle, and the third 6-4, the fourth went to Cambie and Holler 6-1. The length of the match was such as to make the time insufficient to complete it in good light and the final and deciding set was laid over for to-day.

Visitors to Seattle.
 A party of local tennis players left on the Chippewa yesterday afternoon for Seattle to take part in the Seattle tournament which commences to-day. They were Miss M. Pitts, Miss Pooley, Mrs. George, Miss Mara and Miss Ritchart. Kirkbride and Pemberton will leave to-day.

Tournament Notes.
 The following communication was left at the Times office yesterday with the information that the writer would be going out of town yesterday afternoon.

To see ourselves as others see us is an unspoken wish gratified indeed at the recent open tennis tournament. Strenuous comments personal and otherwise were the order of the day from certain semi-official newspaper sources extending even to the visitors.
 Claude indicated some of the daily newspaper reports written up from a cursory and not always accurate glance of the score sheet, and a certain mixed doubles described in detail which was never played at all considerably interested the supposed competitors.

That the prowess of a certain visitor was somewhat overblown by those who published from the "household" the names of those who would do battle in the challenge round of the men's singles added a peculiar zest to the event. That a certain leading player "admitted" a word full of meaning, having lost two love sets to the lady champion at a previous tourney, afforded much amusement to the two concerned.

Some were cheered by the public announcement that they had justified their entrance others were discouraged by the advice that they would prosper some day could they but rid themselves of the objectionable reprehensible and unsportsmanlike habits of stopping when weary, drinking when thirsty or "chucking it." This last especially to the man who put up his very best game at Victoria when his crack opponent was far ahead and needed but one point for the match, and who extended the champion at Portland from 5-1 to 6-7, and from 5-2 and 40 love to 12-10. Yes, many things were said that might well have been left unsaid and vice versa. One man especially helped out the whole tournament by his admirable and untiring umpiring day after day. He was thanked by the players at all events, for a player much appreciates that rara avis—a good umpire.

Many lessons indeed were learned that week by 'ignorant visitors' and others. That amateurs from the grandstand have the right to veto over the decisions of the central and line umpires, that nets must not be tampered with by players, that only officials may disturb nervous competitors by bussing around behind the courts, that balls on the line are decidedly out, that hairpins have many uses. But such little incidents though apt to lose matches for people only serve to form a contrast to the many real joys of tournament week, for of the kindness and hospitality of Victorians there is no possible doubt whatever and many of those who came from afar will certainly come again wiser let us hope and better men.

ATHLETICS.
ENGLISH CRACKS FOR EAST.
 Toronto, Ont., Aug. 24.—The I. C. A. C., with the object of working fresh interest into their athletic side in the middle of September, are moving to bring out the English crack distance runners, Appleby and Duncan. These men have been written to, and Tom Flanagan thinks they will come. If they do they will run a race with Tom Longboat at any distance from ten to fifteen miles.

Duncan, it will be remembered, is the Englishman who won the trial Marathon in England, and Fred Appleby has been for years considered one of England's best distance men.

SONS OF ENGLAND SPORTS.
 Saturday afternoon at Oak Bay the Sons of England will hold their annual sports, the programme of which has now been completed and includes a long list of most enjoyable outdoor sports. There will be four open events the 100 yards, 220 yards, the 440 yards and the mile run. The local organizations are entering members for the different events and a number of close races are expected. Tests of strength as well as tests of endurance are on the programme. Putting the shot, throwing the hammer and the usual field sports will be witnessed.

J. B. A. REGATTA AT GORGE ON SATURDAY

Vancouver Crews Will Not Be Here, but Lady Crews Will Compete.

Next Saturday afternoon at the Gorge the annual regatta at which the Flummett and Mallandale cups will be rowed for, will take place under the direction and management of the James Bay Athletic Club, when several four-oar races will be rowed and the usual events that are included in the fall regatta will be contested. There will be dinghy races, canoe races and every kind of water sport. The J. B. A. crews chosen a couple of weeks ago, five in number, have been in training since that time at regular stated times and are fast getting into condition.

Lawson's crew, which rowed into second place at Shawnigan, are in fine form, and will render a good account of themselves. The two ladies' crews will be on the water and a closer race than the last is thought will be the result of their contest.

The Vancouver crews will not be present, owing to engagements at the Astoria, Ore., regatta the same day. The J. B. A. men announce that they will take part in the regatta at Vancouver on the first Saturday in September, where Donaldson will once again meet Sinclair, the man who was given the verdict over him at Seattle. A meeting of the J. B. A. will be held to-night at the club rooms to arrange the programme and all details in connection with the regatta for Saturday next.

PELLY INDIANS THREATEN WAR

LOVE, JEALOUSY AND MURDER CAUSE RIFT

Decisive Action of Captain Fitz Horrigan of R. N. M. P. Averts Bloodshed.

Dawson, Aug. 14.—War has been pending in Yukon territory for weeks and has been averted by the narrowest margin after the most strenuous efforts on the part of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. The Indian tribes of the Pelly river have been threatening to exterminate one another, and only by the intervention of the police has one of the most sanguinary conflicts been escaped.

Captain Fitz Horrigan returned last evening from the Pelly river, where he acted as mediator between the hostile tribes known as the Blind Creeks and the Pellys. He had a difficult time getting the Blind Creeks to consent to settlement, and it was only by declaring that he would seize and carry off the chief and his councillor to Dawson if a decision was not made in ten minutes that the captain was able to force an acquiescence on the part of the ringleader in the trouble.

The Blind Creeks had demanded that the Pellys deliver to the Blind Creeks one thousand muskets and thirty rifles, the Pellys deliver to the Blind Creeks would proceed in their attempt to exterminate the Pellys.

Through the mediation of some of the whites along the Pelly, the ultimatum on behalf of the Blind Creeks was deferred until the dispute could be referred to the premier, Peter Fisher, who arrived in Dawson four weeks ago, and kept his mission a secret, conveying it only to the police. As soon as possible the matter was taken up by the police, and a steamer dispatched up the Pelly with Captain Horrigan on board to act as arbitrator. The captain arrived just in time. The Blind Creeks were restless, and about to make a murderous raid on the other Indians. It is possible that had it not been for the shortage of ammunition among them, that the appeal to arms would have been made by the Blind Creeks before the arrival of Captain Horrigan. Fifty to sixty warriors were mobilized on each side, and had the threatened war taken place, it is likely that a bitter conflict would have resulted in the wiping out of many if not nearly all of the men on both sides before police could be sent to interfere.

As it is, the Blind Creeks have given up their demand for the thousand muskets and the thirty rifles, and when Captain Fitz Horrigan left several days ago the two tribes had resumed amicable relations, and were having a reunion and feast together in a way that would put to shame many warring Christian factions. Immediately after agreeing to settle and be friends, the two tribes assembled and began feasting in token of their new bound troth. The threatened war arose out of an incident no less interesting than the threatened war. In the story is a murder, committed last November, the instigation of love on behalf of the wife of one of the murdered men for the other, and the passions of jealousy, anger and all the deeper sentiments that sway the human heart from infatuation to sorrow from bereavement.

The matter originated, it seems, through a petty jealousy engendered by the wife of one of the tribesmen, who, having a pair of moccasins to another at the time of the death of her little son, and the husband of the woman who made the present saying she did it because she liked the man to whom she gave the moccasins. This led to a quarrel between the two men, resulting in the murder of the jealous husband by the man whom the jealous husband had attacked. The tribe of the murdered man took up the matter on being fomented into action by the chief, who happened to be a brother to the dead man. Then came the demand for the blankets and rifles, with the alternative of war.

Jonathan, an outcast of the tribe of the Blind Creeks, ostracized because he had been guilty of petty stealing, and thus bearing the awful curse inflicted by his people for his offence, is the murdered man. Laird Bob is the man who did the murdering. Bob is a member of the tribe by birth. Jonathan had married into the Blind Creek tribe, but the inexorable law of the natives of the entire region decreed him an outcast when it was found he was a thief. He wandered alone, with only his own family, and sometimes not even with them. A year or two ago his little boy, died, and Laird Bob showed his sympathy for the outcast, and helped him to bury his boy. Then the mother of the boy in gratitude, gave to Bob a pair of moccasins out of gratitude, if not with some touch of affection for Bob. Jonathan asked her why she gave the moccasins to Bob and her answer to her spouse was that she liked Bob. This kindled the flame of suspicion and the monster of jealousy in the breast of Jonathan, and he would not rest until he sought the blood of Bob.

Last November, on the beautiful banks of the Orkney river, Blind Creek Jonathan accosted Laird Bob, and endeavored there to wreak vengeance on the suspected destroyer of his domestic love. The two strong sons of the forest, each in the vigor of physical manhood, faced one another and battled to the death. Jonathan was, from all that could be learned, the aggressor, and after a force hand-to-hand encounter, even Laird Bob had cried enough, refused to cease his attack, and declined to make peace, and cried in his wrath that he would not cease until he had killed his antagonist. Then Bob was forced to fight in his defence.

Jonathan had brought with him a shotgun and a rifle. Seizing the shotgun, Jonathan struck Bob over the head and gave him a scalp wound. In the first encounter Jonathan had bitten Bob severely on one finger. When Jonathan resorted to the run and struck the blow, Bob, relying on the stinging effects, grappled in desperation and reached for the weapon. Fortunately for the Laird man, he got hold of the butt end. He realized that here it was life or death, and, putting his finger to the trigger, he pulled. The shot took effect in the stomach of the Blind Creek fighter, but did not put him out of action. The rifle stood at some distance. Realizing that the shot gun was empty by the discharge, Jonathan dashed desperately after the rifle. Here the feet foot and steady hand of Bob saved his life. The Laird man and the Blind Creek man raced over the blood-stained grass to the rifle. Bob won the race, and with it the prize of his life. Turning quickly, Bob lifted the rifle and pulled the trigger. One clear shot broke the otherwise stillness of the Pelly wilderness, and as the little cloud of smoke lifted from the end of the rifle, Blind Creek Jonathan, out-cast, the man said to be possessed of a half wild mind, reeled and fell in his own blood, killed by his own rifle.

Laird Bob went back to his people, the Pelly tribe, and the people Blind Creek Jonathan, they who had ostracized him, took his body and buried it according to the tribal custom. Then Chief Juth, brother to Jonathan, a brother who had refused to tolerate a thief, brother and had helped to ostracize him, and keep him an outcast, undertook a vengeance of his brother, and roused the Blind Creeks against the Pellys. They demanded from the Pellys the thousand blankets and the thirty rifles, but the Pellys were loyal to Bob, and refused. They were stubborn and declined, as they said, to be held up and robbed. It was then that war was threatened, and the Pellys, being on the defensive, appealed to the whites, and the whites brought the news to Dawson. The Pellys in the meantime induced the Blind Creeks to await a truce. The shortage of ammunition favored the truce, and perhaps after all the Blind Creeks were glad, and were hoping more to bluff the Pellys into disgorging the coveted plunder.

But in the meantime Captain Fitz Horrigan arrived. The steamer Pauline could land him no nearer than fifteen miles from the headquarters of the Pellys. He took a pole boat with the remainder of the distance, and with Poole Field, Dell Van Gorder, Purser John Raymond of the Pauline, Joe Cote and four prospectors, went to the Pelly camp. The Pellys delegated six men to meet the whites. Captain Horrigan, pointing the effect of display on the aborigines, was in full regimentals, and with his written documents and side arms. The Indians recognized in him the arbiter sent by the frontier power of the land, the mounted police, and with great respect heard his representations as made through Mr. Field, who acted as interpreter. The Pellys were willing for a settlement at once.

Then a search had to be made for the Blind Creeks. They were found after much inquiry, and a delegation was sent to meet the little party of whites. The Pellys had no representative present. Chief Juth was at the head of the hostile delegation. Austere, furrowed and old, but vigorous, the chief showed no gloved hand. He was dogged and surly in every action. He wanted the reprisals for the death of his brother. His people would not submit to murder without the customary compensation which all the Indians believe in; that of a life for a life or the equivalent in chattels. For an hour and a half Captain Horrigan reasoned through Indian Jake, the bright English-speaking Indian, the interpreter. Implacable and cunning, the old chief held out. Finally the blood of Fitz Horrigan, the Anglo-Saxon in the man, rose to assert itself. The prowess of the law should predominate. Horrigan returned from a few paces apart. The Indians, several of them armed, and ugly in their talk-talk which might have meant a massacre of the whites in the conference—talked excitedly.

Horrigan saw the time had arrived. All parties must cease. He drew his watch, raised the table with his bow, and said in stentorian tones that ten minutes would settle it. At the end of that time the chief would acquiesce in peace proposals or be seized and carried to prison.

The glowering countenance of the chief grew more grim. The interpreter urged on immediately. The chief listened. The other councillors paced, and spoke ominously. As the ten minute interval closed, the chief grunted, and spoke with a shrug. The interpreter turned, and said the chief would agree to peace. It was done. The peace was agreed on immediately. The next day the good faith was shown by the two tribes being together in feast. The law of the white man had prevailed. War was averted, and no reprisals are to be demanded. Horrigan and the officers returned and the tribes of the Pelly are at peace.

FORMER VICTORIAN KILLED IN QUEBEC

Percy R. Daniels Met Death by Touching Live Wire in Power-house.

Advice received in this city announce the death of Percy R. Daniels, for seven years a resident of Victoria, where he was prominently associated with the J. B. A. A.

The young man met death suddenly by touching a live wire at a power-house in Quebec, where he was spending a holiday during the tercentenary celebrations.

Mr. Daniels was an Englishman by birth. He came to Victoria at the age of 18, and resided here till 1899, when he was attracted north by the gold discoveries in the Yukon. He returned in time to join Strathcona's Horse, with which he was offered a commission, but preferred to go to South Africa as a trooper. In 1901 he returned to Canada, and again went north, later going down to Pittsburg, where he entered the employ of the Westinghouse Company, with which he was associated at the time of his death.

F. Daniels, of the Bank of Montreal, Ottawa, and formerly a resident of Victoria, is a brother, and R. H. Angus, of Montreal, an uncle of the deceased.

RAILWAY "COMBINE."

Two Big British Lines Arrive at a New Working Agreement.

It is officially announced that a working agreement has been signed by the Northwestern and Midland companies, for a long period of years, which will be the means of effecting considerable working economies, and of giving the public increased facilities for passenger and merchandise traffic.

Some idea of the magnitude of the new combination may be learned from the capital of the parties to the agreement. The following are the figures for the two companies concerned:

Northwestern $128,000,000

Midland 192,000,000

Total $320,000,000

The agreement provides for the pooling of receipts from competitive traffic, the balance, after each company has taken 20 per cent. for actual running expenses, being equally divided. It is estimated that the companies will effect a saving by the new agreement of quite $200,000 per annum.

Formal ratification by parliament is not needed for the new combination, which will come into effect, therefore, in a few weeks' time.

NEW YORK STOCKS

(By Courtesy F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

New York—The list was again feverish but the close was generally higher. Rock Island, Frisco and Smelters were the leaders, but the trading was professional and there was news to account for the advances in the market. Short covering was reported in a great many instances, but the professional element, whose operation for the most part governs the market at this time, continuing generally bearish. Political news was not a factor and in our judgment conditions surrounding the market at the present don't warrant a continuance of the upward tendency.

ARE IMPRESSED BY GREATNESS OF WEST

Touring American Journalists Dilate Upon Resources—Investigate Conditions.

Medicine Hat, Alta., Aug. 25.—The American newspaper editors who are touring the country under the auspices of Canada West, the Winnipeg magazine, arrived in Medicine Hat yesterday and were entertained by the mayor and city council and the officials of the board of trade. In the afternoon they were given demonstrations at the gas plant and the Canadian Pacific road house of the cheapness of Medicine Hat power. Several of the journalists have been for some days devoting their attention to weather conditions in Canada, and these, with the others, were looking forward with keen interest to their visit to Medicine Hat, as this town has always played an important part in weather dispatches in the United States newspapers. The day was exceedingly warm.

A banquet was tendered the visitors early last evening at which addresses were made by Herbert Vanderhoof, editor of Canada West, J. S. Dennis, assistant to the second vice-president of the C. P. R., the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, W. T. Finlay, Elliott Flower, of Pearson's Magazine, and "Dick" Little, of the Chicago Record-Herald. That the visitors were deeply impressed with the district through which they had traveled yesterday was shown in their statements.

"Another phase of Canada's great resources was shown to us yesterday," said Robert R. Jones, managing editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. "In the heart of this western cattle country we expected to find Bret Hart's kind of a frontier. Instead, we found at Medicine Hat the bustling western town with modern homes, natural gas and every evidence of substantial progress. We found high power engines driving the latest improved turbine power, something of which not even Chicago, with its two and a half millions, can boast. And these were being driven by the inexhaustible fuel coming from the ground. Surely never was a place more basely slandered than has been Medicine Hat, and through it a large part of western Canada."

Hiram M. Greene, of the American Press Association, said: "This province is sure to be a great finishing country for live stock. During the last year there were shipped from west of Winnipeg approximately 100,000 head of stock for export. Of these, 75,000 came from the province of Alberta, more than one-tenth of the whole was shipped from Medicine Hat. This is the condition to-day, when the first crop of corn of any consequence is demonstrating that corn can be grown successfully here. With corn grown on Alberta farms, as it will be soon, this should be the greatest finishing country in the world."

Richard H. Little, of the Chicago Record-Herald, said: "They showed us a coal mine at Medicine Hat, but what they do with it heaven only knows. They have the most natural gas that they burn their street lamps all day because it is cheaper to let them burn than to turn them out and light them again. Every time they tap the ground natural gas shoots out, and the men who dig holes have to be careful not to smother themselves with a thousand factories and four United States presidential elections."

BOY VICTIM OF AUTO.

Party of American Tourists Run Down Eight-Year Old Youth Accidently.

Dresden, Aug. 25.—A Bartlett, of Chicago, accompanied by his wife and daughter, was automobiling in from Karlsruhe to Dresden last Saturday when the car ran over and killed a boy 8 years old in the village of Schiedeburg, 20 miles from here. The boy ran suddenly in front of the machine from behind another car.

When it became known that the child was dead the villagers made a demonstration against the Bartlett party, the members of which took refuge in a nearby hotel.

From Schiedeburg Mr. Bartlett telephoned Consul General Gaffney at Dresden, who, with Deputy Consul General Dyanter, went down to Schiedeburg. They found the police and village authorities in session taking testimony. It was decided on Sunday morning that the chauffeur was blameless. Mr. Bartlett said, however, that he would indemnify the family of the boy.

IMMIGRATION APPOINTMENT.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Neville Bentley Cole, of Niagara Falls, has been appointed temporarily to the position of immigration agent for Ontario in England, and will sail next week. The report that he had been appointed to take charge of the new office which the Ontario government is to open in London was incorrect. That position is still open, but it is expected that it will be given to Hon. Nelson Monteth.

CAPTAIN CAINE DIES SUDDENLY IN SEATTLE

Well-known Steamship Owner Carried Off by Attack of Apoplexy.

(Special to the Times). Seattle, Aug. 25.—Capt. E. E. Caine, one of the best-known steamship men on the Pacific Coast, died suddenly at his residence at 6:30 a. m. to-day from apoplexy. His death came as a great shock both to his family and shipping circles, as last night he appeared to be in the best of spirits, although he complained of being tired at dinner. This morning Mrs. Caine was aroused by her husband's struggles and, with her son, tried to relieve his sufferings until medical assistance arrived. Before a physician reached the house, however, Capt. Caine died.

Capt. Caine had built and operated steamships on this coast and had a death in real estate for the past twenty years.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE CHARTER MARKET

Grain Chartering More Active, but Coastwise Fixtures Weak.

"There has been slightly more activity in the grain charter market during the past week, but even yet the situation is far from satisfactory," says the San Francisco Commercial News in its weekly review of the coast charter market.

"There is still a goodly quantity of sail and steam tonnage on the disengaged list, about twenty-one vessels available for grain at northern ports and three large steamers here, which continues to depress the market. There is also a pretty good-sized fleet at and en route to Hobart for orders. For northern loading a couple of sailers were fixed recently at union rates and several steamers have been taken at 25c 3d, which now seems to be the accepted figure for that class of vessel."

Anything over 25c 3d for sailers is out of the question, and it is with considerable difficulty that even that figure can be obtained. The only recent fixture for loading at this port is a barley ship rechartered at 25c. Available tonnage for grain at this port is light. One part cargo of barley, shipped per steamer Anahis, which was bought back here, damaged, has been sold.

Lumber chartering has quieted down again and little of interest may be noted. Another steamer has been taken for Australia and West Coast has been repeated at 35c 3d, both later loading. There is a disposition on the part of local owners to hold out for higher rates, but the fact that a good deal of tonnage was taken recently at 25c 3d, shippers show no haste to meet the rate. The rates asked by square-riggers are above shippers' ideas, and most of the vessels taken of late have been either coasters or steamers. Coastwise freights are very weak and one vessel is reported to have accepted the remarkable rate of 2.75 Puget Sound to San Francisco.

"Offshore rates are quoted approximately as follows:

"Lumber from Puget Sound or B. C. to Sydney (steam) 25c 3d to 25c 3d; (sail) 25c 3d to 25c 3d; to Melbourne of Adelaide (steam), 25c 3d to 25c 3d; (sail) 25c 3d; Port Pirie (steam), 25c 3d to 25c 3d; to Fremantle (steam), 25c 3d; to Japan ports (steamers), 30c; Callao 25c 3d to 25c 3d; direct to Valparaiso 25c 3d to 25c 3d; Valparaiso for orders 25c 3d to 25c 3d; to 25c 3d less to a direct port; to South African port, 45c 3d; to U. K. or Continent, 50c 3d to 50c 3d; Guayaquil, 45c 3d to 45c 3d; Santa Rosalia, 45c 3d to 45c 3d; H. E. Moss & Co., of Liverpool, in their semi-annual freight report, say of present conditions:

"The anticipation as to the prospects of steam shipping and shipbuilding predicted in our last semi-annual circular has been more than fulfilled; but as unsatisfactory as they were then they are far worse to-day; in fact during the half century we have been accustomed to write these lines, the times we are now passing through are the worst on record. In former years these cycles of depression in shipping were not so universally felt, for in some parts of the world payable employment was obtainable. All this has arisen, first, through the recent financial crisis in America, which adversely affected commerce in all directions, and set nearly everything on the downward grade; then we have had the record building of tonnage during recent years together with ill-advised legislation as to increased free-trade."

Then, next, the disappointing harvests abroad, which, coming together, have contributed to bring about the present state of affairs."

TRANSATLANTIC RECORD.

The R. M. S. Manuka is due tomorrow morning from the Antipodes.

MAY BRINGS NEWS OF FIRES

FORESTS ARE ABLAZE ON JOHNSTONE STRAIT

Officers of Skagway Liner State That Loss Will Be Great.

Extensive forest fires are consuming miles of timber limits on the mainland side of Johnstone Strait and off Vancouver Island above Port Rupert, according to the officers of the Skagway liner Princess May, which arrived from the north last evening. In the vicinity of Knox Bay a fire over two miles in extent and blazing with great fury was observed from the steamship during her passage down the strait while innumerable other places the ravaging flames could be seen at work.

A fire which started nearly two months ago north of Port Rupert, a point above Alert Bay on Vancouver Island, has swept several miles of forest clear and is now burning itself out. No reports of loss of life or domestic properties have been received as the areas in which the fires are at work are practically unpopulated, but the loss is incalculable. The May passed down Johnstone Strait at night and the sight of the flames and the officers on duty was a magnificent, if saddening one. The timber in the vicinity of Knox Bay is heavy and the flames, fanned by a light wind, curled over a vast area fully two miles in extent on the waterfront and extending back into the forests for several miles.

The Princess May made a special trip to Taku Arm on her southbound trip in order to give the passengers an opportunity of seeing the famous glacier. There were fully thirty saloon passengers who took in the round trip for pleasure only, and they expressed themselves as delighted with the favors extended to passengers by Capt. McLeod. Near Admiralty Island, where the Barneon-Hibberd whaling station is located, the Princess May came upon the whaler Tye in pursuit of a large sulphur-bottom whale and the vessel was put about in order to allow the whaler to bring the whale to the surface.

The ship Princess Victoria, upon arrival from Vancouver last night, went to Esquimalt and was hauled out for her semi-annual cleaning and painting. She will resume the service to-night, leaving for Seattle at the usual time.

The steamer Belkirk has been chartered by the Pacific Whaling Company for a trip to the Sechart whaling station with 125 tons of coal and 180 empty barrels.

SHIP KYNANCE NOW DUE FROM LIVERPOOL

Good News Reported Seeing Ship Steering Toward Strait Off Oregon.

After spending several hours off Cape Flattery seeking for business the tug Lorne returned to port last night. The ship Kynance, which left Liverpool on April 5th, is due for Vancouver with general cargo and the Lorne's trip to the ocean was mainly on this account. When the barquentine Good News was towing into the strait last week after her long trip from Delaware breakwater, the Lorne spoke to her and learned that the captain of the Good News had sighted a full-rigged loaded ship off the Oregon coast steering for the strait. If this vessel was the Kynance it is difficult to understand why the square-rigger did not make port before the little damaged Good News.

ANOTHER STEAMER FOR FISHERIES PATROL

Tug Restless Bought by Government for Use on Fraser River.

A special dispatch to the Times from New Westminster announces the addition of another vessel to the fleet of fisheries service steamers which is steadily growing in British Columbia waters.

The department of marine and fisheries yesterday purchased from Meyers and Preston (the New Westminster Towing and Fish Company) the new tug Restless, built in 1902, at New Westminster. The Restless will be remodelled and used as a patrol boat on the Fraser river. She is 71 feet long, 17 feet beam and 7 feet deep, has a gross tonnage of 26 and a net tonnage of 55. Her engines drive a single screw and develop a minimum of 16 horsepower.

WORLD'S CHAMPION SMUGGLERS

I know something about smuggling, writes a correspondent. I spent three years in the Chinese maritime customs in Canton and Amoy, and some more years on the China Navigation Company's boats. In Canton we had a large and efficient staff of officers, yet we could not cope with the only heathen who smuggled opium. We drew 20 per cent. on all seizures, and we hustled, you bet. I have seen the river steamers cut from stem to stern to make hiding places for the drug. I have also seen a coffin, with a supposed corpse inside, used to get the stuff ashore; also edible dogs and cats carried by hawkers on the end of a stick. They are the world's champions at the game.

A MIRAGE.

Mirage is an optical illusion by which images are seen as if inverted below the ground or raised in the atmosphere. The layers of air in contact with the heated soil are rarified and expanded more than those immediately above them; a ray of light from an elevated object has to traverse strata of air and less refracting, and the angle of incidence continually increases in amount still refraction gives place to internal reflection. According to the varying density of the several strata of air the mirage varies in character. It is sometimes reflected sideways. The Fata

HEADACHES ARE DANGER SIGNALS

THEY TELL US PLAINLY THAT SOMETHING IS WRONG INSIDE.

There are tablets and powders that will stop a headache promptly—but removing a danger signal does not take away the danger.

In nearly every case a headache—of whatever kind—is a symptom of poisoned blood, due to Bowels, Kidneys and Skin failing to thoroughly remove indigestible food and waste, worn-out tissue from the body. Then digestion is poor, causing sick headaches, or uric acid is formed and deposited on the nerves, causing neuralgia.

Not only the danger signal, but the danger itself as well, is quickly removed by "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" are tablets made of the combined juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, containing all their medicinal properties, concentrated and intensified. They cause the liver to secrete more bile, which moves the bowels freely and regularly, and cures the most obstinate cases of Constipation. They stir up kidneys and skin to throw off all the urea, or dead tissue, which has been poisoning the system. They sweeten the stomach, improve digestion and tone up the whole body. The headaches disappear—because the source is removed. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Trial size, 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Margara, what sailors call the "loomings," the Flying Dutchman, the Enchanted Island, and Cape Flyway are all produced by the mirage.

A man's voice, through a speaking-trumpet 20 ft. long, has been heard at a distance of twenty miles.

"FANTANA" OPENED A WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT

San Francisco Opera Co.
Score Hit—Teddy Webb Triumphant.

There was not a very large audience present at the Victoria theatre last night to extend a welcome to the San Francisco Opera Company which returned to open its week-long engagement here in "Fantana," but after the success which greeted this performance of the merry American-Japanese comic opera, the company needs no further advertisement and it is safe to predict full houses for the remainder of the week.

Merriment of the genuine, uncontrolled kind was the keynote of the evening, and the radiant Teddy Webb, king of comedians, kept his auditors convulsed. His song, "That is All," accompanied by his clever parodies on the alleged artists he dealt with, brought the audience to his feet, demanding encores until he begged for respite. In the role of "Hawkins," an English valet, "Teddy" scored an undoubtedly brilliant success being ably seconded in the comedy of the piece by Amy Leicester, as "Jesse," and Frank Bertrant, as "Parisian waiter."

The part of Fantana was undertaken by Miss Mabel Day, who sang in an unaffected and winning manner. Lieut. Sinclair, the leading male part, was capably handled by Eugene Wiener. The rich basso of J. Russell Powell, playing Marquis Klotz, was heard to advantage in the few selections which the piece assigns to him. Ruby Norton, as Elsie Sturtevant, and Blanche Bryant, as Miss Anna, filled their respective roles capably.

Fred Snook and Charles Browning had little to do as commedore and Frederick Everett, and did that little well. Fun is the primary aim of Fantana and yet there are several pretty numbers that one likes to remember. It is staged in excellent taste and should, upon its second performance to-night, draw a capacity crowd.

PERFORMING PONIES
GIVE GOOD EXHIBIT

Pantages Theatre Keeps Up to Record This Week.

The act brought on by Leon Morris & Co. at Pantages this week with their trained ponies and dogs is well worth the price charged for admission alone. Trained animal shows have been seen before in this city, but it is rarely that a show of such merit has been presented to a Victoria audience.

The ponies, eight in number, can do almost everything except go through a drill with more precision than the average gymnasium class, and their waiting is wonderful. Then there is John Hedge, the colored wrestler, who undertakes to throw the two ponies, Banner and Madison. He throws the latter after a great deal of trouble, but—well, you'll have to see it to understand.

Chas. Strausfeld undertakes to show what can be done with the English alphabet by declamation, and selecting the role of an old-style Tennessee meeting-house preacher, he puts the 26 letters through some strikingly novel gymnastics. He took on with the crowd last night.

The balance of the show is up to the high standard maintained at Pantages.

AWAKENING.

By Joseph I. C. Clarke.
It was joy to have lived, if only to know I had walked in this dusk of the woods to the flow.

Of a streamlet that leaps down its dell to the sea.
Its waters a sparkle and beckoning to me:

To have walked in the forest and marvelled to hear
A bird at its matin-song glad and clear.

"From dawn-blue to sun-glow I've haunted your dream
With the lure of Her love by the marge of the stream."

To have slept in my sorrow and wakened but now
With a kiss as of exquisite lips on my brow.

And Her call as of bells to a world that's reborn;
And a beat in my blood like the laughter of morn.

To have wandered and toiled in the deep forest ables,
To have counted in darkness the weary some miles.

To have slept for the dream's sake, and walked with Love's word
At the lips of the stream, at the heart of the bird.

WOMAN'S HOME IS NEARING COMPLETION

Ladies in Charge Still Require Funds to Meet Cost.

The new Home for Aged and Infirm Women is fast nearing completion. It is expected to be ready for occupation about October 1st. The building is of silica brick, without much adornment, and yet it presents a fine appearance, and is in no way a discredit to Victoria. It has the very latest in modern appliances, and is as near fire proof as it is possible to be made. Altogether there are some forty rooms, besides seven in the old wing, which for the present will be retained as a sick ward. Across the south end of one wing is a magnificent sun parlor with six large plate glass windows. Opening from this is a balcony where the aged ones can take slight exercise or bask in the open sunshine. It is heated by stoves and the basement is a fine laundry with stationary tubs, etc. The dining room is very commodious, with a large open fire place of red brick and an abundance of light. In several of the larger bedrooms, too, are pretty little red brick open fire places.

The ladies' committee in charge of the work has shown wonderful zeal in connection with the building. Through their efforts a large sum has been raised, but there yet remains a considerable sum to be subscribed before the cost price will be met. The provincial government and the city council unitedly provided $10,000. The other subscriptions received to date are as follows:

"THE MAN OF MYSTERY" IS WELL PRESENTED

Burroughs Company at A. O. U. W. Hall Makes Good Showing.

"The Man of Mystery," played by the Burroughs Stock Company at the A. O. U. W. hall last night and set for the tomorrow and Saturday, gave entertainment to an almost packed house last night which received the play with loud applause and was particularly responsive to the fine stage setting in which the comedy was enacted. The play is a four-act one and the first two acts take place in Doctor Leslie's reception room and office, the setting and furnishing of which are elaborate and luxurious. A decided contrast, however, is given to the play-goer in the second act where the weird Devil's kitchen is disclosed to view with several ingenious appearances. The last act goes back again to the doctor's office and reception rooms. The play is a comedy and was well received on its presentation last night. The audience again this week appreciated the forethought of the management in providing refreshment in the intervals and in putting on a number of specialties with which to occupy the time between the scene and fall of the curtain between the four acts. Clarke Burroughs is cast as Ned Archer, while Mr. Conway, Mr. Mulhally and Mr. Roberts have congenial parts. The two children, Panay and Baby Dennis, have parts this week and last night they rendered a good account of the work entrusted to them. Margaret Marion and Maud L. Francis filled the ladies roles in the cast. The comedy under the stage direction of G. J. Roberts goes with a swing and gives an enjoyable evening's entertainment, which last night was somewhat heightened by the attendance of Mr. Raffles. He was not caught, however.

COUNCIL WILL HOLD INQUIRY

HEALTH MATTERS ARE

TO BE DEALT WITH

Stables on Michigan Street and Case of Compulsory Sewerage to Come Up.

The city council will hold an inquiry on Thursday evening next under the provisions of section 59 of the Health Act to investigate the complaint of neighbors about the stables on Michigan street, belonging to David Spencer, Limited, and also into a case in which the sanitary inspector has recommended that a resident of Bay street be forced to connect with the sewer. In each case both sides will have an opportunity to be heard at this inquiry.

The council also decided that the council take action to prevent the issuing of a license for the sale of liquor at the fair, although this has already been provided for by the exhibition association in the letting of the privileges.

The meeting of the council was an exceptionally short one, starting at 8:30 o'clock and being over by 9:45. An invitation was received from the League of American Municipalities to attend its annual convention at Omaha on September 29th and October 1st and 2nd. Ald. McKinnon moved that the invitation be accepted with thanks, and that as many as possible attend.

Ald. Cameron: "At their own expense."

The resolution was adopted. B. H. T. Drake complained of the fumes from the works of the Victoria Chemical Company, which were, he said, not only most unpleasant, but also dangerous to health. He has been informed by a medical authority, Mr. Drake will be informed that a committee from the council has inspected the works, and that changes were contemplated which would remove all objections. A copy of Mr. Drake's letter, however, will be sent to the chemical company.

W. H. Langley will be paid $15 for examining into the title to the water lots adjoining the one on which the city proposes to locate its new wharf at the foot of Telegraph street, a proceeding necessary under the Dominion regulations before the city can be granted permission to go ahead with the work.

A. T. Goward, local manager of the B. C. Electric railway, acknowledged acceptance of a contract to construct a power line to the high level tank at a cost of $375.

A. E. Starr, local manager of the C. P. R. company's telegraphs, entered a protest against the presence of David Spencer Limited's stables on Michigan street, in which he did not mince matters. He said that the council had broken faith with the adjoining property owners in this matter. The stench from these stables was so great that if the council did not do something in the matter he would be forced to leave his house. He asked the council to give him a straight answer in the matter in order that he and others would know what to do in the matter of abandoning their homes.

City Solicitor Mann explained that in this matter the council could hold an inquiry, and if the evidence produced there warranted such action it could order the removal of the nuisance. He might point out that there was another matter which might furnish a fit subject for such an inquiry, that of a house on Bay street, the owner of which refused to connect with the sewer, saying that to do so he would have to raise his house several feet. The house was at present connected with the box drain, a not desirable thing. There had been several cases of sickness in the house in question, which the health officer considered were due to the lack of sewerage connection. It was decided that both these matters should be taken up as advised by City Solicitor Mann at a special meeting on Thursday night.

The city solicitor reported that they had completed the purchase of the site for the Douglas street fire hall.

The water commissioner reported that the night engineer at the North Dairy Farm pumping station had passed his examinations, and now held a third class certificate, and was now entitled to $5 more pay per month, and also that an agreement had been concluded with Grant & Latham for the purchase of the Cadman property for $2,000, required in the raising of the level of Elk lake.

Mon. William Templeman's letter, saying that the Dominion government would pay taxes on the old post office building on Government street so long as it was used for commercial purposes, and intimating that the question of back taxes could be taken up later, was received and filed and the writer will be thanked by the council for the interest which he has displayed in this matter on behalf of the city.

The tender of McDougall & Jenkins for building 1,300 feet of breakwater along the east side of the Ross Bay cemetery at $1.50 per foot was accepted on recommendation of the cemetery committee.

The report of the finance committee recommending payments totalling $4,166.24 on account of current revenue, and of $2,451.99 on account of the water works loan by-law, was passed.

The city engineer and the city assessor reported on the construction of a permanent sidewalk on both sides of the street between Stanley avenue and Belmont avenue. The total cost is placed at $4,268, of which the city's share is $1,456. The same officials also reported on the straightening of Belmont avenue and of expropriating certain lands for the purposes and of grading, macadamizing and draining the said avenue, and of laying permanent sidewalks on both sides thereof, between the avenues above mentioned, the roadways to be 24 feet wide. The total cost of this work is placed at $14,762, of which the city will contribute $5,000 and the property owners $9,762. The straightening will consist in removing the dip to the west between Pandora avenue and a point some distance north of Gladstone avenue. The new street will take about half the property between Gladstone avenue and Pandora avenue on the east side of the present street belonging to C. E. Stanley and George M. Tripp, a portion of A. J. Pines's frontage, and will close up the portion of the street on which front property belonging to Ald. Gleason, Lawrence Goodacre, Clarence and Mrs. Carter and William Bulman and Mrs. Hannah S. Gray. These people to get access to the new street will have to secure possession of the portion of the present street, which is to be closed. When this improvement has been carried out the street will be perfectly straight from end to end.

Mayor Hall explained that this course had been advised by the chief of the city solicitor, which was moved by Ald. Meaton and seconded by Ald. Fullerton, and carried unanimously. "That the council lodge with the licensing commissioners of Oak Bay a protest against the granting of any license in respect of the Bowker Park property and Agricultural grounds and a desire by the council to be heard upon any application for such a license."
